M'GURN GUILTY; SECOND GUNMAN HEADED TO JAIL

Jury Convicts Him of Toting Pistol.

A second conviction of a notorious Chicago gangster within a few days on the charge of carrying concealed weapons was accomplished yesterday afternoon. Jack McGurn, sometimes known as "Machine Gun," was found guilty by a jury in Judge Frankhauser's court.

The conviction was accomplished to the apparent astonishment of McGurn. Such things haven't been done, his friends thought. Now he is facing a term of one year in the county jail or a fine of $300, or both.

The conviction follows quickly after that of Anthony [Red] Kissane, who was found guilty by a jury on the same charge of carrying concealed weapons. Kissane was sentenced on Tuesday by Judge Daniel P. Trude to a year in jail and a $300 fine.

Campaign Against Gun Toters.

The convictions are the result of an anti-gun toting campaign started by State's Attorney Swanson and Judge McGoorty when the latter was acting chief justice of the Criminal court a few months ago. It was decided at that time because of the lack of convictions obtained in the lower courts that a vigorous prosecution of gun toters in the Criminal courts would have a beneficial result.

"Our campaign," although slow in getting under way due to the many ways in which a defendant can dodge trial for weeks, is now beginning to show splendid results," said State's Attorney Swanson last night.

"We will keep after these gangsters and hoodlums who go about the city armed with revolvers and before long we hope to have them all in jail, if we can keep getting juries with the same courage as we had in the McGurn and Kissane cases."

McGurn Seized in Taxi

McGurn was arrested during the day on which Julius Rosenheim, undercover investigator of the underworld, was murdered. He was found riding in a taxicab with Tony Accardo. They were stopped at Harrison and Dearborn streets by Policemen William Drury and John Howe, who had been ordered by the then Chief of Detectives Stege, they testified, to arrest all known gangsters. When the policemen stopped the taxicab McGurn said, 'Don't get rough, boys; it is in my right hand pocket."

The police found a .45 caliber loaded automatic pistol. This gun was placed before the jury. Against this evidence Defense Attorneys Thomas D. Nash and Michael Ahern pitted an argument of illegal arrest and search and seizure. They addressed the jurors about Supreme court decisions, mostly in liquor cases, which say that a man cannot be searched without a proper warrant.

Calls on Jury's Courage.

"The only way the authorities can combat gangsters and hoodlums is for juries to show their courage in voting for conviction when the state has made out a clear cut case," said Assistant State's Attorneys Wilkie Ham and Edward C. Dufficy in their arguments to the jury. "It is up to you men to say whether McGurn will stalk the streets in the future with his revolver or languish in the county jail."

Judge Frankhauser said he would allow McGurn, whose real name is Jack Demore, his liberty under his $10,000 bond, pending the new trial motion on July 3. The judge said, however, that he was reluctant to allow the bond to stand in view of the fact that McGurn has once run away. Attorneys Nash and Ahern said they would guarantee the defendant's appearance.

McGurn, like Kissane, lost his jocular attitude as soon as the verdict was read. Throughout the trial, court attachés said, he had smiled at the efforts of the prosecutors to send him to jail for the first time in his long career. Kissane is the man who said he worked for Jake Lingle, slain TRIBUNE reporter, according to the police.

RENT FREE ON 30 DETROIT HOMES FOR SIX MONTHS

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—[Special.]—Thirty homes rent free for six months are the contribution to the welfare of Detroit's needy families today by L. G. Olson, proprietor of a local hotel. The homes each consist of four rooms and a porch.

"These houses are useless to me at the present time," Olson said. "Rather than have them stand vacant I would have them filled with families who need their shelter and cannot afford to pay rent."

$1,000,000 TUBE TO HARNESS GULF STREAM IS LOST

HAVANA, June 25.—(AP)—A giant steel tube built by Prof. Georges Claude, famous French scientist, in an effort to harness the gulf stream and convert its waters into electrical energy collapsed as it was being lowered into the ocean opposite Matanzas today and was lost. Its estimated value was in excess of $1,000,000.

Two great cables, which were intended to give the 5,905 foot steel tube sufficient tensile strength to withstand the strong undercurrents which prevail near the shore line, parted like thread and the tube broke away from its land moorings.

The tube had been floated out to sea at right angles to the shore line, and expert native swimmers started opening the cocks in the 120 tanks of compressed air which kept it afloat.

As they opened the tanks at the extreme end of the tube, nearly a mile out to sea, that end started to sink. A terrific pull was placed on the two one-inch steel cables, which ran the length of the tube and were fastened to shore. One ripped loose and then the other cable parted. The tube sank in 700 meters of water.

Trace Stock Dealings of Slain Lingle

$55,825 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,825 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. The information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in Room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street; telephone State 3729.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, in charge of the search for the slayer of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, delved yesterday into the financial record and doings of the slain man. His investigations along this line were begun when THE TRIBUNE discovered soon after the murder that Lingle's money operations were entangled.

Last night Mr. Swanson summarized his investigations to date of the financial aspects of the Lingle case in the following statement:

"We have been investigating the transactions of Al Lingle on the stock market," the statement said, "and are satisfied from information furnished us by former Commissioner of Police Russell and other sources that Lingle ran an account of a few thousand dollars into paper profits amounting to well over $100,000 at the time when the peak was reached.

"It is possible, on further analysis, that they may even amount to more than this. So far as moneys drawn out of this account, or put into it, are concerned, these matters are now being investigated in an attempt to ascertain whether or not they shed any light upon the motive for the killing of Lingle.

"It appears from our investigation that Lingle traded rather extensively in stocks, and was able to do this because of the large paper profits which accumulated to his credit during the time when the market was rising.

"The investigation of Lingle's stock transactions and bank accounts will be completed within a few days."

It was reported that Capt. Russell and Lingle maintained a joint brokerage account in which the major speculations of Lingle were transacted, but this report was not discussed by the state's attorney in his statement. This joint account, it was said, was in addition to other speculative accounts of Lingle's.

Leaders Hold Conference.

In the morning State's Attorney Swanson, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle of the Criminal court held a conference.

Attorney Walter Walker and G. L. Hostetter, representing the Employers' association, which has conducted a campaign against racketeers, were with Randolph in Swanson's office before the visit to Justice Normoyle's chambers. They said their discussion had nothing to do with the Lingle inquiry, but concerned other matters.

Police Changes Delayed.

The expected shakeup of the police department, which Acting Police Commissioner Alcock announced when he succeeded to the office resigned by Russell, was delayed yesterday. It is expected today.

KEGEL TO ASK CITY COUNCIL FOR BAN ON USE OF FIREWORKS

The repeal of a section of the city code that permits any one to discharge fireworks on the Fourth of July will be recommended to the city council at its meeting on July 2 by Health Commissioner Kegel. He pointed out that last year, with a ban on the sale of fireworks in the city, but with no ban on their use on that one day, 5 persons died and 33 were injured in fireworks accidents.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock, after a conference with Deputy Fire Commissioner Maloney, issued an order to his captains directing them to enforce "strictly" the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks within the city limits and the discharge of fireworks without a permit.

The City club and the Chicago Safety council joined in an appeal for the enforcement of the city ordinances against fireworks. According to Sheriff Traeger approximately 1,000 stands are selling fireworks along the county highways. He said he had no authority to stop the sales.

Can't Enforce Dry Law, U.S. Official Says

Kenosha, Wis., June 25.—[Special.]—Americans are fast becoming the most lawless people of all time, and prohibition has become the greatest national problem smce slavery, Levi Bancroft of Milwaukee, United States district attorney for eastern Wisconson, told the Round Table club here tonight.

Mr. Bancroft added that the eighteenth amendment cannot be enforced and that the people must decide "wet or dry."

"Slavery was a problem because it was profitable," he said. "Prohibition becomes a problem for the same reason. That profit links so many people, high and low, that it has become no longer a disgrace to be convicted of liquor charges. The public attitude on the prohibition violator has changed.

"Last year I convicted 348 persons in the eastern district of Wisconsin and 338 of them were convicted and sent to prison for sentences of three months to three years for violation of the prohibition act. A total of $95,000 was paid in fines into the eastern district federal court at Milwaukee for violation of the prohibition act. Yet many offenders got away.

Can Get a Drink Anywhere.

"I can definitely say that there is not a federal district in the entire United States that has better enforcement than in this district of Wisconsin. In spite of that, you can walk in almost any saloon in any community anywhere in the state and get a drink.

"In telling you this I'm not giving you my personal opinion. My job is to enforce the law. And it is through this daily contact that I see that prohibition is a problem of gigantic importance which the people themselves must solve by saying wet or dry.

"Many people believe that putting the prohibition amendment into the constitution of the United States sanctifies it. That doesn't sanctify it at all. That doesn't mean that people will heed it.

People Must Decide.

"When the eighteenth amendment was adopted the United States was one of the greatest temperance countries in the world. Thirty-six states had prohibition and a natural sentiment was growing toward temperance in the others.

"Then came the fanatics. 'We must put it into the constitution,' they said. They insisted that prohibition become part of the fundamental law, and today it is.

"I don't want the return of the old saloon. I'm not in favor of drinking. But I am in favor of law enforcement and the prohibition act can not be enforced. The time has come when the people must decide—wet or dry."

RAIN DRENCHES PART OF CITY AND NORTH SUBURBS

Rain squalls, accompanied by electrical displays, swept the north and west sides of Chicago and the northern suburbs early this morning, cooling the air and relieving the humidity of yesterday afternoon and evening. The maximum temperature for the day was 85. At 3 o'clock this morning the mercury had dropped to an unofficial 68, a decline of 10 degrees from the reading of 78 at 2 a. m.

The weather bureau forecast clear skies and cooler weather for today. Tomorrow, the prediction said, will be cloudy and slightly warmer.

CONQUERORS OF ATLANTIC SAVED BY THE RADIO

Commander Tells of Losing Way.

BULLETIN.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 26 (Thursday.— Maj. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions on the flight from Ireland were tuning up the Southern Cross at 5 a. m. (Newfoundland time) preparatory to hopping off for New York City. Refueling of the plane was completed last night.

With favorable winds forecast for today he expects to make the trip in 12 or 14 hours, which would mean that the Southern Cross would complete its journey between 2:30 and 4:30 (Chicago daylight saving time) this afternoon.

Maj. Charles Kingsford-Smith here tells briefly his own story of the successful flight of the Southern Cross over the Atlantic. He will give a full story of the flight exclusively for The Chicago Tribune and the New York Times on his arrival in New York.

BY MAJ. KINGSFORD-SMITH.

Commander and chief pilot of the airplane Southern Cross.

[Copyright: 1930: Throughout the world by The Chicago Tribune and the New York Times. All rights reserved.]

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 25.—The Southern Cross had no difficulty in rising from Portmarnock beach, Ireland. We lifted at once to 3,500 feet. Right from the start we had radio communication.

The weather until we reached the coast of Newfoundland was bad, with rain and air bumps which are unpleasant with a heavily loaded machine. Rather strong head winds prevailed 75 per cent of the flight and generally bore out the forecast.

We were able to hold a perfect course, thanks to Capt. Saul, the navigator, who, nevertheless, would have been helpless on account of overcast sky, prohibiting the taking of observations, were it not for the wonderful radio assistance given by John Stannage, our wireless operator. Practically throughout the whole trip we received radio bearings from ships, which, in all modesty, I claim to be one of the first radio shows ever put on for air work.

Strike a Blind Fog.

All went fairly well until we reached a point between 30 and 35 degrees longitude, when we ran into a blind fog, and from then on we scarcely saw the sky or sea. However, thanks to the rapid working out of the radio compass bearings given us by Stannage, we were informed of our position constantly.

About 3 o'clock, G. M. T., we were in a position about 350 miles from Cape Race and expected to reach that point in four hours. To our consternation, however, a radio bearing showed we had only made 120 miles in four hours, which, even for our reduced ground speed, was a ridiculously low figure. We found that owing to inability to maintain a perfect course while flying blind, added to rapid changes of variation, which caused our compass to swing unusually, we evidently were flying a most erratic course. This is borne out by the extraordinary difference in the radio bearings we received from ships. I would like to stress this. It seems to be a condition likely to be met in this locality in the air. No blame is attributable to our instruments.

Landed with Fuel in Tanks.

Had this not occurred we could have probably made a point 700 miles nearer New York. As it was we landed with 3½ to 4 hours of petrol. Radio advices wisely called our attention to the fact that ground conditions at Harbor Grace were free from fog, and, with limited flying range, it would, in my opinion, have been most unwise to have proceeded any farther.

Naturally we are disappointed, but this has been mitigated by the amazing resources of our organization from the point of view of radio. The weather practically bore out the forecasts, but we didn't anticipate meeting a heavy fog so far from our destination. We actually flew blind practically half the trip. The ocean fog is apparently unlimited—unlimited as to height—as we were still flying blind up to 5,000 feet, but the fog held on. Usually on the Grand Banks the fog is considerably lower and frequently there is clear air over the fog at 1,000 feet.

Throughout the trip we maintained communication with shipping and, for a great part of the time, in this way had connection with the shore. This more than bears out my theories as regards two way radio being essential.

I would like to pay a great tribute to all the boys, who worked magnificently and untiringly throughout the flight and were each perfect in their particular spheres. In the hour and a half before Harbor Grace was reached we knew our gas was running short and we were keeping up our radio communications for emergencies. I particularly wish to thank radio operators of all stations and ships, especially the S. S. Transylvania, who were untiring in their efforts to assist us, and to whose good offices we are deeply indebted. My sincere thanks to the New York Times for its offer to send a relief plane, which happily was not necessary, and also to everybody who sent congratulatory messages.

The trip consumed 31 hours from Dublin to Harbor Grace. We are now putting on board 400 gallons of gasoline, which will give plenty of radius to reach Roosevelt field tomorrow evening. We are leaving here after daylight tomorrow.

HOP TO N. Y. TODAY

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune and the New York Times.]

Harbor Grace, N. F., June 25.—Maj. Charles Kingsford-Smith and the three men with him in the Southern Cross, which brought them safely in a 2,000 mile hop across the Atlantic from Ireland, rested here today and prepared to start at dawn for New York, which bad luck prevented them from reaching without a stop.

While they slept 400 gallons of gasoline and enough oil for the 1,200 mile flight to New York were poured into the tanks of the mighty Fokker monoplane, whose engines have pulled her safely over two oceans. The engines needed only a little tinkering to make them fit for the next leg of the journey which, when completed in California, will have taken the Southern Cross around the world.

Tired but Triumphant.

Maj. Kingsford-Smith, the leader of the expedition which was the first to fly from the old world to an American airport; his Dutch co-pilot, Evert Van Dyk; their navigator, Capt. J. Patrick Saul, and the wireless operator, John W. Stannage, were fagged out but happy to feel earth beneath their feet again.

They had spent a perilous, trying night, lost in the fog above Newfoundland and Nova Scotia. Only the radio had saved them from possible disaster. Maj. Kingsford-Smith admitted when he brought his ship to a graceful landing with only enough gasoline in her tanks to keep her aloft another three and a half to four hours. It was a beam wireless at Belle Isle station that guided them at last to a haven.

Six Perilous Hours.

It was 6:56 a. m. when the wheels of the Southern Cross touched earth. For six hours prior to their landing the flyers, their directional finding instruments and their compass at loggerheads, had been flying in circles off the Newfoundland coast, burning up precious gasoline which might have taken them to New York, and certainly would have carried them to American territory had it been conserved.

All through that anxious period, Stannage remained at his key calling ships and shore stations to get the airplane's bearings, and toward the last trying desperately to feel the way toward a landing field through the dense fog which covered the rocky, woody, harbor dotted coast. Repeatedly he asked that an airplane be sent up from Harbor Grace airport to pilot the trans-Atlantic ship to land.

Find Own Way In.

But while frantic telephone calls were being made to the airport by the wireless operator at Cape Race advising the airport of the danger to the Southern Cross, the big monoplane suddenly appeared above the field, circled, and floated down through the mist which the sun was piercing.

Upon landing, Maj. Kingsford-Smith asked for a cigaret, remarked that he had had "a tough night" in the air and began preparations for continuing his flight. For twenty hours, he said, he had no visibility whatever, the fog over the ocean extended 5,000 feet above the surface, and try as he would he could not escape it. Capt. Saul was unable to make observations and the instruments before him in the cabin were his only guide.

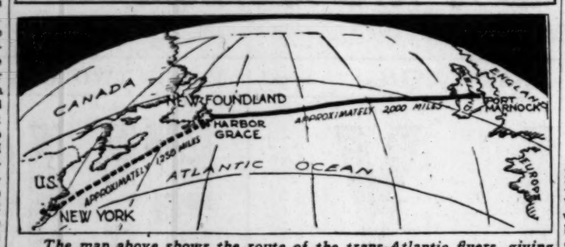
MOST OF DANGER BEHIND



The map above shows the route of the trans-Atlantic flyers, giving the path they followed to Harbor Grace and the trip to New York, still to be flown.

ROTARIAN EAGER FOR NEWS OF FRIEND ON TRANS-OCEANIC PLANE

The most interested man in Chicago during the trans-Atlantic flight of the Southern Cross was Michael Devlin, newsprint contractor of Dublin and the only Irish delegate to the Rotary International convention. He remained awake Tuesday night until 1 a. m. awaiting word of the flyers, and ordered a paper early yesterday morning to see that they had landed safely. Capt. J. P. Saul, navigator of the plane, is a close friend of Mr. Devlin and is the latter's landlord in Dublin. The site for the start of the record flight was the Portmarnock Golf club, of which Mr. Devlin is a member and director.

MOVE TO OPEN TRACK-BLOCKED STREETS REVIVED

The city council railway terminal committee yesterday revived its plan for the opening to the south side of a number of streets now blocked by the maze of railroad tracks terminating at the southern edge of the loop. After a short discussion of the proposed work, which will cost about $25,000,000, the committee decided to ask Corporation Counsel Ettelson for an opinion on whether the work can be done by special assessment or should be financed by bond issues. The committee arranged for a meeting with the Chicago Plan commission on July 8 and a meeting with representatives of railroads on July 15.

CITY AIRPORT FIRE DAMAGE IS PUT AT $1,000,000

Officials of the Universal Air Lines and the Stout Air Lines estimated their total losses at $1,000,000 from the fire which destroyed three hangars and 36 airplanes early yesterday. According to Chief Deputy Fire Marshal Daniel J. Carmody the fire was started by electrical discharges created when one of the Universal ships was being drained of gasoline.

Three automobiles parked near the hangars were destroyed. One of them was owned by Lew E. Balch, 34 years old, a Chicago real estate man, who had left for St. Louis on the 6 o'clock plane.

ANNE'S TRADE IS FLYING; BABY STILL UNNAMED

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh designated herself as a professional flyer today in filing a birth certificate for her son, born last Sunday at the home of her father, Dwight Morrow, in Englewood.

The information which every one was waiting for, however, the name of the son of Col. Lindbergh, was not forthcoming.

Considerable surprise was caused by the notation that the mother's "trade or profession" was flying. Some took it as an indication that Mrs. Lindbergh, in her year's career as flying mate to Col. Lindbergh, had become so enthusiastic about flying that she intends taking it up seriously.

Another notation which caused surprise was that for home, which was given as St. Louis, Mo., for Col. Lindbergh, who has spent little time in that city since he flew to Paris three years ago.

NEW YORK TO TURN OUT AND GREET FLYERS

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—This city was ready today with its reception plans for the Southern Cross and its hardy crew of four airmen due at Roosevelt field, Long island, late tomorrow afternoon. There will be two demonstrations, one at the field, when the plane that flew from Ireland to Newfoundland arrives, and the official municipal reception Friday at noon.

The Southern Cross is due at Roosevelt field about 4 p. m. Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the city's welcoming committee, announced the flyers would be entertained at a Garden City, Long Island, hotel on the night of their arrival and would be brought to the Battery Friday forenoon in an amphibian plane.

There will be a harbor pageant, a triumphal parade up Broadway, speeches at city hall, luncheons, dinners, and all the other trimmings that go to make a municipal welcome for class A heroes.

SEEK TO TEST TRACHOMA GERM ON MURDERER

Santa Fé, N. M., June 25.—(AP)—Woo Dak San, a Chinese sentenced to be electrocuted for murder, may be given the alternative of offering himself as a subject for experiment in science's efforts to combat trachoma.

Dr. Polk Richards of the United States Indian health service at Albuquerque and Dr. S. I. Proctor, noted oculist of Boston, have discussed with Attorney General M. A. Otero the possibility of obtaining the man's consent for such an experiment in return for commutation of the death sentence.

Dr. Richards said today that if the Chinese consented to inoculation with a germ which is believed to cause trachoma, an eye disease, he probably would suffer no permanent effects. Dr. Richards said trachoma results in blindness only when treatment is neglected.

KEEP PLANE UP DESPITE LEAK IN GASOLINE TANK

With all endurance records surpassed except that of the St. Louis Robin, the airplane City of Chicago, with John and Kenneth Hunter at the controls, circled slowly over Sky Harbor airport last evening after having completed fourteen days of continuous flying. At 2:40 this morning the plane had been aloft 346 hours, 74 hours short of the record of 420 hours established last year by the Robin.

Mechanical difficulties became an added hazard as the physical strain told on the pilots near the end of the 14th day. Early in the morning the brothers changed two faulty spark plugs. As the plane approached the 336th hour mark the storage tank under the left wing sprang a leak. The flyers dropped a note stating that they had shut off the tank and would exert caution in flying with the shift in balance due to additional weight in the right wing.

Falls Asleep at Controls.

The strain of continuous vigilance told when the plane was flying at a high altitude. Kenneth Hunter, who was piloting, allowed the plane to fall into a tail spin when he dozed for a moment. After the plane had fallen several hundred feet he awoke and brought the craft out of the spin. A few moments later the plane struck an air pocket and a pneumatic mattress, from which John had sprung as the plane dropped, was swept overboard.

In notes dropped to their brothers, Walter and Albert, who are in charge of refueling contacts, the brother pilots expressed confidence in the ability of the City of Chicago to set a new mark. They reported, "We will keep the crate going until it cracks." Before taking off the brothers expressed the resolve to break the record by 100 hours, which means that the ship must stay aloft for almost 23 days.

Make 124 Refueling Contacts.

At 6:40 p. m. the plane had made 124 contacts with the refueling ship for fuel and food. For each hour in the air the ship consumes 15 gallons of gas. It had consumed 4,394 gallons of gas at that time. It is fed 4½ gallons of oil every 24 hours. The Wright J-6-300 motor in the Stinson Senior cabin monoplane was reported to be functioning perfectly.

Telephone communication with the plane was established during the refueling period at 10:30 o'clock last night. The refueling plane carried forty feet of wire and the batteries for the phones and the wire and one phone were dropped to the pilots. They were able to talk to their brothers, but could hear nothing, their ears being deafened by the constant roar of the motors. This is believed to be the first time such communication has been established between two planes. The co-pilots said they were considering efforts to repair the leak in the left wing gasoline tank.

Flying Against Time

The hands point to the number of hours the City of Chicago has been in the air at Sky Harbor and to the 420 hour mark established by the St. Louis Robin which the pilots are out to beat.

REFEREE OF AIR RACES OPENS CHICAGO OFFICE

Maj. Luke Christopher, contest director of the National Aeronautic association, who will referee all events and enforce the rules of the Federation Aeronautique International at the National air races to be held at Curtiss field from Aug. 23 to Sept. 1, yesterday established his headquarters at the Hotel Sherman. He will remain in the city until the races are over except for a two weeks' absence.

Maj. Christopher announced that there will be no alteration in the plans for the two women's Derbies which are to open the meet. The Derby from the west coast will be limited to planes of approximately 200 horsepower. The contest, which will begin at the Atlantic seaboard, skirt the gulf of Mexico, and take the home stretch up the Mississippi valley, will be limited to planes of approximately 100 horsepower.

Chihuahua Has Two Capitals, One Dead in New Flareup

El Paso, Tex., June 25.—(AP)—The state of Chihuahua, one of the most turbulent in the republic of Mexico, tonight had two capitals, one man was dead, two others were injured, and Gov. Francisco Almada had fled to Juarez, establishing a state capital in the border city.

All was the result of what was termed a political coup, staged by Manuel Prieto, candidate for governor of Chihuahua.

Manuel Jesus Estrada, Prieto follower, has been named governor by the Prieto faction at Chihuahua City, special dispatches to the El Paso Times said.

Raid Government Palace.

Gabriel Jiminez, chief of the Chihuahua state police, was killed today when Prieto followers made a raid on the government palace at Chihuahua City in an attempt to oust Almada.

Reports received earlier in the day by El Continental, Spanish language paper published in El Paso, were that three state deputies had been killed in the fighting in Chihuahua City, but later reports tonight were that only the police chief was slain.

Federal Senator Luis Estrada and Ignacio Chavez Franco, undersecretary of state in Almada's cabinet, were under arrest at Chihuahua City. They were being held by Eulogio Ortiz, commander of the Fifth military zone, who, according to Almada, was "responsible for the political trickery that resulted in my leaving the city and throwing the state into turmoil."

Quarrel Over Funds.

Prieto followers claimed that Gov. Almada had misappropriated funds and had conducted his office in an irregular fashion since he succeeded Gov. Luis Leon, now a member of President Ortiz-Rubio's cabinet.

Juarez, an Almada stronghold, remained quiet tonight, although federal troops were ready for action and many special officers had been pressed into service.

Gen. Eulogio Ortiz was blamed by Almada for the coup, while another of the same name, although not a relative of the general, Andres Ortiz, was an Almada supporter and was in Juarez with Gov. Almada.

REP. E. G. PORTER OF PENNSYLVANIA IS GRAVELY ILL

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 25.—(AP)—Congressman Stephen G. Porter, ill at the Allegheny General hospital here, was reported as sinking rapidly tonight and relatives were summoned to his bedside.

The congressman, who has represented his district here since 1910, was stricken two months ago while on shipboard returning from London. He entered a hospital in Washington, but was removed to Pittsburgh June 11.

He has been chairman of the house foreign affairs committee for years.

WAR SHOW FLYER INJURED IN CRASH AS HE TAKES OFF

Plane Caught in Air Wash of Ship Ahead.

Lieut. Carl Feldman of the army pursuit squadron from Selfridge field, Mich., crashed last night as he was taking off from Curtiss field, near Glenview, to participate in the war show maneuvers at Soldier's field. He is in the Evanston hospital in a critical condition.

It was the first serious accident of the show. The 18 planes, flying in V formation by threes, were only twenty feet above the ground when the left wing of Lieut. Feldman's ship was caught in what is known as a wing wash from the ship ahead—choppy air waves. The plane went into a sideslip, then dived nose first to the ground. The windshield was shattered and the instrument board splintered.

Lieut. Feldman was pinioned in the cockpit, suffering internal injuries, physicians said. His mates kept on for the war show. Lieut. Feldman's home is at Sabetha, Kas.

Reduce Prices for Children.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the sixth corps army area, announced plans last night to entertain Chicago school children at the military show Saturday at reduced general admission prices. On the same day the staff officers of the sixth corps area will have as their guests children from Chicago orphanages.

Army officers declare the military show is one of the greatest demonstrations of national defense ever held in the country. All branches of the army participate in the show. Last night French patriotic, social and fraternal organizations took part in the evening performance.

Brig. Gen. Caspar H. Conrad Jr., commandant at Fort Sheridan, declared last night that the military exhibition at the south end of Soldiers' field was attracting almost as much attention as the tournament. The exhibits show everything pertaining to field and garrison life of soldiers, past and present.

The air corps has the largest exhibit. In this are pursuit, observation, and attack planes, and parachutes. One of the most popular units of the exhibit is the small airplane tester. This device is used in training student aviators. It is constructed to revolve and turn at all angles to test the student's reactions.

Then come the exhibits of the cavalry, chemical warfare, engineers, artillery, infantry, medical corps, ordnance, signal and quartermaster corps. Field kitchens form part of the exposition and cooks demonstrate how the men of the United States army are fed.

Chicagoans of Czecho-Slovakian descent will present their program of national folklore tonight.

350 Women Attend

Three hundred and fifty members of the Woman's National Republican club of Chicago assembled yesterday at the Lake Forest estate of Mrs. Rockefeller-McCormick in an informal rally for the candidacy of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick for United States senator. She telegraphed her regrets that she could not be present because "I have to be in Washington to vote on important bills."

The chief speaker was Cornelius J. Doyle, formerly secretary of state of Illinois and now chairman of the Republican state central committee. He began by saying Mrs. McCormick's majority at the primary of 218,000 was something politicians had never believed possible for a woman.

VATICAN SOOTHES ROME'S ALARM ON ILLNESS OF POPE

Says He Lays Plans for a Hard Week.

VATICAN CITY, June 25.—(AP)—In the face of widespread reports that Pope Pius was suffering from an old bladder disorder, the semi-official daily Vatican communique today stressed how active the pontiff has been the last few days, although it made no denial that he was troubled by the disorder. Neither did it make formal admission that physicians had been consulted and that an operation was possible, as had been reported.

The communique instead cited ceremonies the pope has attended lately and speeches he has pronounced as proof of his vigor, asserting that "Pius XI. not only has changed nothing in his habitual régime of a life extraordinarily intense and full of occupations" but in this last period has "notably multiplied his activity."

Stressing that the pope did not feel the least inconvenience from last Sunday's long function of canonization and apparently showed no sign of fatigue, the communique said all those close to the pope at the end of the ceremony and when he returned to his apartments in the Vatican noted that he seemed even more fresh than in the morning when he descended into St. Peter's.

Other sources said, however, that several Roman doctors had been consulted because of the possibility of a uremic crisis, and added that the possibility of an operation had been discussed.

ROTARIANS ASK WAR ON BRIBERY IN TRADE WORLD

Delegates Seek Ways to Better Business Ethics.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

More than a hundred earnest gentlemen who informally addressed each other as John and Adolph and Charlie and Wilfred gathered yesterday in the Stevens hotel to exchange views, as good International Rotarians, on where a cleanup of the world's business ethics should begin.

At the end of two hours of discussion by the conferees, drawn from thirty nations, it was generally agreed that commercial bribery was the most prevalent evil on a world-wide scale and the one which Rotary should attack at once.

The only definite plan of campaign to this end was embodied in a resolution passed unanimously. In effect it provided that Rotary should foster a second conference on business ethics, to be held during its convention in Vienna next year, and that other organizations, business, governmental, and quasi-governmental, should be invited to participate and furnish the agenda —the mass of materials on which specific recommendations could be based.

Attack Commercial Bribery.

William de Cock-Buning, of The Hague, Holland, asserted that bribery is the principal point demanding settlement in world affairs. T. C. Thomsen of Copenhagen said it was the "outstanding unfair business practice all over the world." He suggested that Rotarians urge the passage of laws to prevent bribery. England, he asserted, already has such legislation, and Holland provides punishment for public officials who accept bribes.

"But it is one thing to bring about laws," added Mr. Thomsen, "and another to secure enforcement. Witness prohibition in the United States."

John N. Van der Vries of the Chicago office of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States suggested that it was a proper function of the Rotary organization to go into international relations and to accelerate movements for the welfare of the whole race.

Urges International Amity.

George Schmider of Nuremberg asserted that in Germany the question of bribery is so important that many business men, particularly those in export trade, have formed anti-bribery associations. Dr. Adolph Morsbach, Berlin scientist, took the position that friendship between men of different races would go far to eliminate unfair practices.

This sentiment was echoed by W. Hung of Yenching university, Peiping, China.

Herbert Coates of Montevideo declared South Americans are "only anxious to have a square deal." Putting Rotary principles into effect the world over, he said, would remedy many trade evils. I. B. Sutton of Tampico, Mexico, who presided, recalled that in Spain business disputes are frequently referred to the nearest Rotary club for settlement.

3 Kopelman Kidnapers Get 20 Year Sentences

The three men recently convicted of the kidnaping for ransom of Theodore Kopelman, insurance broker, were denied new trials yesterday by Judge Miller in the Criminal court. They were sentenced to terms of 20 years each in the penitentiary in accordance with the verdict of a jury. Samuel Gold, Seymour Pellar and Norman Resnick, the defendants, said they would appeal.

Earl McLean, alias Jimmy Light, who once escaped from the county jail with five other prisoners, was given a taste of speedy justice yesterday in the courtroom of Judge Daniel P. Trude. He was recently arrested in Jacksonville, Fla.

The jury convicted him within five minutes after Assistant State's Attorney Owen West had finished presenting the evidence. Judge Trude denied a new trial and at once sentenced the defendant to 1 year to life. Warden David Moneypenny concluded the act by having McLean in the penitentiary at Joliet before night.

RIGA, Latvia, June 25.—Ten thousand pedigreed rabbits purchased in Germany left Riga today for Moscow to supply the inhabitants with meat. The Moscow Isvestia reports that the most efficient workers will be given a pair of rabbits to breed for their own meat supply. Other shipments have been arranged to supply Leningrad, Harkov and other industrial centers. According to the present plans the workers will be supplied with 15,000 tons of rabbit meat yearly.

A deficiency of fats in the diet of the dwellers of the soviet cities is causing the health department anxiety since tuberculosis is increasing. The soviets are negotiating with American firms for quantities of lard.

TWIN TENS or WALLET—

Chicago likes its WINGS AIR-COOLED

15¢

IN old-fashioned, bulky packs of twenty cigarettes, the last three or four smokes invariably get mangled and mashed. Half the tobacco leaks out—clutters up your pocket (or purse)—a waste and a nuisance.

Maybe that's why so many people welcome WINGS in these two new packs. Some like the WALLET—some the TWIN TENS.

But ALL agree on this: they like their smokes air-cooled.

The WALLET—really a folding cigarette case of rigid construction—protects every single smoke in the pack—keeps each firm and fresh and deliciously plump. The TWIN TENS is utterly new! Two slender, trim little packs of 10 each instead of one chunky, crumply, wasteful pack of 20. Easy to slip into a vest pocket. Fits nicely, too, into the modish new flat handbags. A secret delight for women smokers!

New process makes 'em AIR-COOLED!

Air-washing is an exclusive new process. All the delicious Turkish, Virginia and Burley tobacco that goes into WINGS is air-washed! All burn, sting and bite are air-washed away! No flares or hot-spots remain.

Air-washing makes WINGS the tastiest, cleanest, coolest smoke you ever reached for! The kind you can smoke continuously, all day —every day—each one with renewed, live enjoyment.

Take WINGS today! They're smooth as cream! Cool as a breeze!

WINGS! NO MORE CRUSHED OR HALF-EMPTY CIGARETTES!

The AIR-COOLED Cigarette

ADE RIVALRY WAR PERIL, OTARY WARNED

Henry Thornton Urges Work for Peace.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Henry Worth Thornton, who is ident of the British empire al- he was born in Indiana, chair- and president of the Canadian onal railways, talked of wars and anses and the place of modern ery in improving international re- at the second plenary session Rotary International convention Chicago Stadium yesterday. He a plea for peace and warned that ercial rivalry is a potential war his was the outstanding ad- of the day, it was hardly the of the activities of the Ro- delegates. The day was marked mmunity service day, and discus- ns in dozens of sectional assemblies with various aspects of juvenile , health service and civic wel- and the work performed all over orld in these fields.

Tells of Surveys on Youth.

the main convention Will H. ory of Salt Lake City told of boy girl life surveys there and said all communities can best meet problems by knowing what they Lewis Fox of Fort Worth, Tex., of experiences with student loan . He said the clubs had found ful, and the clubs had found by in the work. There are 532 clubs and some of them rotate ach as $30,000.

ural-urban acquaintance was dis- d by Ralph Shannon of Wash- Ia., who said the farmers in district had become convinced ch meetings arranged by the Ro- club that the town folk were in- ted in them and their problems. Herbert Schofield of Loughborough, land, told of the good accomplished mmunity service surveys, and Montero y Tirado of Lima, Peru, of the control of beggars. Work crippled children was described Chester J. Decker of Toronto, Ont. , he said, should get behind a am that would give every child best treatment, and then the num- of crippled children on this con- nt could be reduced at least 50 ent.

Achievements of Rotary.

Harry H. Rogers of Tulsa, Okla., president, talked on Rotary's ievements for the first quarter of ntury. As just a few things he :

Wading pools for the kids; baseball mmonds and tennis courts for the s hours and vacation time; parks playgrounds for all. Circulating aries for rural districts and remote tions in cities; part time employ- t for orphans or poor children, en- ing them to get at least the rudi- nts of an education; back to school ks, and support of schools for f, deaf, and dump.

I wish I could tell you how many nds of boys have been organized and ained by Rotarians," he continued. e can't tell how many trade and professional associations have adopted codes of correct practices through the efforts of Rotarians. We have a record of 141.

"Probably the greatest accomplishment to date is the development of the individual Rotarian. Old men have become young. Grouches have been reclaimed, and teamwork inaugurated. The timid have been led to leadership."

Thornton Talks on War.

Sir Henry Thornton in his address said, in part:

"It is only since the disaster of the last great war that there has dawned in the mind of man the conviction that war is the only game in which both sides eventually lose. Only within the last few years has there been an organized movement for world-wide peace and the provision of international machinery for the prevention of war.

"No theory can become the policy of any nation until the great majority of the electorate is sufficiently impressed with its necessity to demand adoption.

"Peace among nations will appear only when a majority in each nation and sufficent nations themselves are inspired by reason to strive for such an objective.

New Causes for Conflict.

"Religious contentions, the predatory desires of monarchs, the thirst for revenge, all fruitful disturbances in international relations, have largely disappeared, and with the advance of finance, commerce and trade as preponderating influences in the world today it is found that in these activities exist the most potential causes for strife and conflict.

"In this struggle, which is both offensive and defensive, lies unquestionably the real menace to world peace. It is the field in which modern industry and its leaders can play their finest part.

"The important leaders of industry whose activities reach the four corners of the world need no warning of the dangers to which I have alluded, but, however important they may be, they represent a relatively small group. If the problem is to approach solution it must be through their leadership and the efforts of such conferences as this in the conversion of all business men as a class to the importance of so administering their enterprises in their internationa aspects as to prevent the translation of trade development from a peaceful pursuit to a real danger."

Talks on Position of U. S.

Sketching the history of the United States, Sir Henry said that today it stands as the most opulent, the most powerful and the most influential nation on the earth. He continued:

"But these attributes likewise inevitably carry certain responsibilities, and one of these responsibilities must be to give of its best in world leadership. Measurably this responsibility is being fulfilled. The counsel of great American bankers is sought in the settlement of international financial affairs; nations listen with attention to the comments of her statesmen; but there still lingers in the minds of the great mass of the population of this country the echo of what is alleged to be the advice of the father of his country to beware of foreign entanglements.

"Just what Washington meant by this may be arguable, but had he suspected the tremendous development of his country, its vast power and wealth, I think he would have been one of the first likewise to recognize the responsibilities of his nation in its relationship to other and less fortunate countries.

"Amiable foreign relations, tolerance and consideration for other nationals are the best commercial travelers in the promotion of expanding markets."

Elect Officers Today.

Today is election day at the convention. Nominations were made yesterday for president, directors and district leaders. Much lobbying and pledge work was going on. The balloting is to be by the Australian system. The president gets no salary and must give a year's work to the job. The two men nominated are Almon E. Roth of Palo Alto, Cal., President Hoover's home town, and Raymond E. Knoeppel, a New York attorney.

Wives of Rotary Directors Are Feted by Chicago Women

Women from more than a score of countries assembled yesterday at a "friendship luncheon" given in honor of the wives of directors of Rotary International by the Chicago women's committee of the Rotary silver jubilee convention. The luncheon was held in the tower ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

A roll call by countries was as follows: Belgium, one delegate; Bermuda, one; Brazil, two; Canada, ten; Chile, three, Colombia, one; England, twenty-two; Cuba, four; Germany, one; Hawaii, two; Holland, four; India, one; Italy, three; Mexico, four; New Zealand, three; and Nova Scotia, Panama, Peru, San Salvador, South Africa, Spain, Switzerland, Uruguay and Hungary, one each.

Responds to Toast.

Mrs. M. Eugene Newsom, Durham, N. C., wife of the president of Rotary International, responded to a toast given to her as the principal guest. Mrs. I. B. Sutton, of Tampico, Mexico, wife of the immediate past president of Rotary International, delivered her response in Spanish.

Mrs. Yvonne Willems, wife of Prof. Edouard Willems of the University of Brussels, gave a toast to Chicago and America and said she had learned America's secret. "What you are fighting for is health, beauty, youth, and happiness," she said.

Introduces Committee.

Mrs. Charles E. Herrick, wife of the chairman of the Chicago Host club of the convention, was toastmistress. Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen was the official hostess of the day. Mrs. M. Richard McClure, chairman of the woman's committee, introduced the committee, consisting of Mrs. Paul P. Harris, wife of the founder of Rotary, and Mrs. Floyd Bateman, wife of the president of the Chicago Rotary club, honorary chairman; Mrs. Edwin O. Griffenhagen, vice chairman, and Mrs. George De Muth and Mrs. Oscar Rosenthal.

Others who responded to toasts were: Mrs. David Clark, Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. D. W. O'Hern, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Clyde L. Hulsizer, Des Moines; Mrs. S. L. P. Free, Masterton, New Zealand; Lady Mander, London; Mrs. Charles Ackley, Vineland, N. J.; Mrs. Grace McCullough, Fort William, Ont., and Mrs. D. W. Wright, Stratford, Ont.

JAPANESE PEER ARRIVES TO TALK TO ROTARY TODAY

Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the Japanese house of peers and a scion of the Shoguns, the warrior clan which once ruled the empire, arrived in Chicago last night to address the Rotary convention. He will speak this noon on "National Aspirations."

Prince Tokugawa was accompanied by Bunji Mano, a member of the house of peers, and Yakuji Seko, secretary of the house. He was greeted at the Grand Central station by A. W. Frazar of Tokio, vice president of the Japanese society of which the prince is president; I. B. Sutton of Tampico, Mexico, past president of Rotary International, and Atsuchi Kimura, Japanese consul in Chicago.

Relations between the United States and Japan are good at present and in prospect, Prince Tokugawa said. Asked about the Japanese attitude toward the London naval treaty, the prince said the pact has met generally with approval, although there has been some opposition.

After his address Prince Tokugawa will depart for Ottawa.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

HOOVER WRITES VETS' BILL VETO; ANOTHER READY

Substitute Measure Has Pension Plan.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—President Hoover's veto message on the world war veterans' bill was in preparation tonight and will be transmitted to congress tomorrow. The bill reached the President this afternoon after the house, without a record vote or opposition, concurred in all senate amendments. It was sent at once to the veterans' bureau and to the treasury department and will be returned to the White House tomorrow morning.

Speaker Longworth announced in the house he had received word that the veto message would be on his desk at noon tomorrow. He added that the house "would sustain the veto."

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans' bureau, and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon are collaborating with President Hoover in the assembling of material for use in the veto message. The President is expected to condemn the bill as discriminatory, unsound and as threatening a treasury deficit and tax increase.

Administration Confident.

Administration leaders were confident that the house would sustain the President's veto as a result of the pledges given at last night's Republican caucus when 154 members agreed to follow this course, following assurances that a substitute bill would be rushed through congress before adjournment.

When the President's veto mesesage reaches the house at the opening of tomorrow's session it will be read at once and a vote taken immediately on the question of overriding the veto. If the veto is sustained it is planned to pass under a suspension of the rules the proposed substitute bill providing for a system of pensions for disabled veterans to cost $50,000,000 the first year as compared with 102 millions under the bill to be vetoed by the President.

Inasmuch as the veto message goes first to the house, where the bill originated, there will be no occasion for a vote in the senate on the question of passing the bill over the veto if the house sustains the President.

Legion Opposes Pension Plan.

While the American Legion is opposed to the pension system as embodied in the substitute proposal, passage of the new bill if presented is looked for in both houses. There may be a little delay in the senate, but final action is expected to come in time to insure adjournment of the regular session of congress by next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Finishing touches were put on the substitute bill by Representative Royal C. Johnson [Rep., S. D.], chairman of the veterans' committee. Its initial annual cost of $50,000,000 will increase to $80,000,000 in three years. Pensions will range from $12 to $40 per month, depending upon the degree of disability. It will apply to probably 200,000 veterans the first year.

PALESTINE JEWS OPEN BATTLE FOR WAILING WALL

Criticize Moslems at Opening of Inquiry.

JERUSALEM, June 25. —(AP)— A memorandum tracing the historical connection of the Jewish people with the wailing wall, a source of contention between the Jews and Moslems in Palestine, from the destruction of the temple of Solomon, of which it is a vestige, to the present day was submitted today to the international wailing wall commission at its first public sitting. The commission is here to investigate the Moslem and Jewish claims to the wall.

Prepared by Dr. Cyrus Adler, president of the Jewish Theological seminary of America and of the American Jewish committee, the 100 page memorandum was presented on behalf of the Jewish agency, the Jewish National council, and the United Rabbis.

The session as described by the Jewish Telegraphic agency, opened with an address by Dr. Mordecai Eliash, chief of the Jewish council, who criticized the Moslems' move in claiming that the Jews do not have any rights at the wailing wall. When Dr. Eliash began speaking there were present in the room, besides Jewish leaders, prominent Arabic advocates from Damascus and local Moslem leaders in addition to the Moslem lawyers.

A proposal that the Moslem supreme council should vacate the properties now occupied by the Mughrabi Wakf along the approach to the wailing wall and accept in place of them new buildings of an equivalent size upon some eligible site in Jerusalem was suggested in the memorandum prepared by Dr. Adler.

The memorandum, recognizing the peculiar sentiment attached to the Wakf, suggests that the ground be leased for a long term to the Palestine government, that it may be used for prayer, and that new property, which the Jewish agency should, through the government, provide for the houses of the poor, should equally be leased for the Wakf of the Mughrabi community.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES REJECT BIDS FOR NEW LANE TECH

Charging excessive estimates, the board of education yesterday rejected eighteen of nineteen low bids for the new Lane Technical High school and will advertise for new bids. This action followed a heated discussion by trustees and low bid contractors in which a resolution from the Builders' association was read by Oscar O. Rosenthal, president of the association, characterizing the board's action as "outrageous and without precedent."

One contract for the excavation and masonry work has been let to the O'Neil Construction company, who were $100,000 below the next bidder. Work was started Tuesday by the O'Neil concern.

Follows Year of Discussion.

The action of the board follows a year of bickering in which the plans have been changed several times.

When the bids were opened recently the board members charged the estimates were excessive when compared to market prices despite the fact that they were lower than the board's cost estimates. John Griffiths & Co., the only concern to bid on the entire job, bid $5,572,300. The board estimate had been given as $6,500,000. Nineteen low bids of 150 sub contractors totaled $439,300.60 less than the Griffiths bid.

Bids Nearly Identical.

Many bids were found to be almost identical. The electrical bids, involving a job estimated at $500,000, showed a difference of only $230 between five bidders. The steel bids were said to be from $200,000 to $400,000 excessive.

Paul Gerhardt, board architect, denied responsibility for the $6,500,000 estimate, saying no estimates were made, although "a general calculation is made to see how much a building might cost."

BALK FAKE DRYS' EXTORTION PLOT; SUSPECT SEIZED

A plot to extort $1,500 from Gust Koehne, roadhouse keeper near Morton Grove, by three men posing as dry agents, was frustrated yesterday by Sergt. Joseph Cantello of the county highway police just as Koehne was preparing to draw the money from the Glenview State bank. One suspect was arrested. He said he is C. L. Lewis. He carried what purported to be badge number 117 of the internal revenue department.

According to Koehne, the three men visited his place in the morning, said they had a warrant for his arrest for violating the prohibition law, and suggested he step outside and talk it over. When he did so he was put in one of two cars. Lewis, the driver, told him, he related to Sergt. Cantello, "We want $1,500. If you don't pay it you'll never go back. You're on a ride now." He agreed to pay it, he said.

In the meantime Mrs. Koehne had notified Sergt. Cantello that "those fellows are probably trying to put the shake on Gust. We bank at the Glenview State bank." Cantello went there and hid behind a door. In five minutes Lewis and Koehne arrived. Cantello seized Lewis, but the other two sped away.

DOROTHY DIX says:

"If I could, I'd give Every Girl in America a box of Lux!"

"Let me tell you Girls of CHICAGO - just why I say this"

FEMININE DAINTINESS! It is a girl's chief charm. Nothing so attracts people, MEN especially, as dainty femininity. Womanly daintiness stirs the emotions more than anything else.

Sometimes girls are a little careless—a blouse is just a bit soiled at the cuff. Even more do some girls neglect the things that DON'T SHOW — a slip or a step-in is allowed to get shabby looking.

My dears, I have known a soiled, faded looking shoulder ribbon peeping out to shatter a man's IDEAL more quickly and completely than a nagging tongue or a display of temper.

Moreover, when your lingerie isn't dainty and colorful, you yourself don't FEEL exquisite and truly charming. And, in order to charm others, you must feel sure of your own feminine appeal. Self-confidence is contagious.

For your own sakes, I would like to urge every one of you to follow two simple rules—

1. Buy the daintiest, prettiest lingerie you can.

2. Keep it color-fresh and exquisite in every way as long as you wear it.

I'm sure girls often hesitate to wash underthings—stockings, too—as often as daintiness requires, lest they become faded and wear out too soon.

You may rightly fear this, if you've been using just ordinary "good" soap.

But if you'll keep a box of Lux on your bathroom shelf and just dip your lingerie and hosiery up and down in a bowlful of suds as often as needed, you will find they stay colorful and lovely—soft and shimmering and beautiful—for an amazingly long time.

Lux is especially made to keep delicate colors UNFADED, FRESH, and to preserve the beauty of fine textures.

I feel so strongly about this that if I could, I'D GIVE EVERY GIRL IN AMERICA A BOX OF LUX:

In Your Home, Too

Not only can dainty, colorful lingerie give you confidence of charm—but your very SURROUNDINGS can help!

Pretty curtains, slip covers, cushions, colorful table linens, all form part of the magic spell when they are kept ever lovely with Lux.

DOROTHY DIX

"Dainty, colorful lingerie makes you feel charming — faded, drab underthings cannot give you the same consciousness of utter feminine charm. Therefore — never be careless even about the things that don't show."

Perfect! Lingerie washed 15 times in Lux—silk and lace fibres intact, color intact, charming as new!

Disappointing! Lingerie washed 15 times with ordinary "good" soap—silk and lace damaged, color faded.

If it's Safe in Water .. it's Safe in LUX

ST 200 GROUPS S BACKERS OF RANSIT PLAN

owed as Demand for Better Service.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Two hundred labor, business and city organizations were reported yesterday as having indorsed the proposal indeterminate transportation ordinance.

"These represent every section of the city, every class of citizens and every kind of organization interested in the development of the city," explained Ald. Joseph B. McDonough of the Nonpartisan committee favoring the ordinance. "I doubt if any candidate or any issue—except the prosecution of the war—ever received such sweeping and thorough indorsement.

"Want Improved Service."

"The people want improved transit service, the $200,000,000 of extensions and betterments, universal transfers between the elevated and the surface lines, and construction of the subway. They want the work for the unemployed and the aid to general business which the construction of these improvements will bring." They have no fear that the critics, agitators, and obstructionists will promote the welfare of the city.

"The most prominent organization opposed against the ordinance is the Cook County Real Estate board. The referendum being taken shows that its members are more than four to one in favor of the ordinance. The votes are 193 in favor of the ordinance and 43 against it."

John Binga, colored banker, said: "The ordinance cannot be a mistake. It must bring us large benefits."

Shanahan Favors Ordinance.

David E. Shanahan, speaker of the general assembly said, "a vote against the ordinance would be a serious blunder which cannot be corrected for years to come." He went on:

"All Chicago citizens desirous of better transportation, extensions, a speedy, more rapid transit facilities and universal transfers should vote for this ordinance next Tuesday."

"Chicago will continue to grow if the ordinance is not passed," said Perry C. Watkins, past commander of the station Legion, to a post meeting. "but its citizens will continue to waste an unreasonable amount of their lives in the cars."

Advocate of City Ownership Urges Defeat of Transit Plan

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Carl D. Thompson, municipal ownership advocate, suggested several alternatives yesterday to the transportation franchise to be voted upon next Tuesday.

In his statement, he referred to the ordinance as "an abject surrender," "a monstrous deal," "a nefarious scheme" and "a monstrous merger."

The best of all of the alternatives in Mr. Thompson's opinion, is municipal ownership. "Other great cities in this and other countries have demonstrated in a most outstanding manner the tremendous advantage of city ownership," he wrote. "Detroit, San Francisco, Seattle and Toronto are working out the solution of their utility problems without making their people the servile slaves of some gigantic utility monopoly.

"Yet when this alternative is suggested, this splendid civic ideal of our people has been scoffed at, treated with ridicule and scorn, hooted down and swept away.

"The one and only sure way to get a better deal than this [indeterminate franchise] one is to vote 'No' on July 1st. The first step to any kind of a constructive solution is the defeat of the proposed ordinance next Tuesday."

Other alternatives suggested by Mr. Thompson are the Lisman plan, the proposal of the subway and arcade company, and the drafting of an entirely new ordinance.

He says that the "Lisman plan is infinitely better" than the terminable permit. He continues: "The Lisman plan would give the people of Chicago not only the ownership but the complete control of the transportation system of the city, and means to pay for the entire system out of earnings in 20 years, without increasing fares.

"Yet the city council and those who are trying to jam this insull ordinance through would not permit the people to have a vote on this alternative proposition."

This advocacy of municipal ownership brought the following comment from Ald. McDonough who advocates the indeterminate permit:

"The city of Chicago owned and operated its garbage reduction plant until recently. The last full year of its operation cost the taxpayers $815,000 and the grease and by-products sold brought the city about $251,000, so the net cost to the taxpayers was $564,000. That is municipal ownership and operation in Chicago. The last year the reduction plant was privately operated it returned a profit of more than $300,000 after paying the city $47,500 for the privilege of handling its garbage."

REBELS TO MAP NEW "WAR" ON BRITAIN IN INDIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, June 25.—Backed by the nation-wide condemnation of the Simon report, the "war council" of the Indian Nationalist congress, which will meet at Ahmadabad tomorrow, plans to initiate a more vigorous passive resistance campaign. What new steps are to be taken has not been divulged.

Processions of natives, carrying black flags, were held today at Ahmadabad, Lahore, and other interior cities. There were no further attempts to hold parades in Bombay, Calcutta, and Madras owing to police suppression and until the new policy of the congress is announced.

The measures of repression employed by the police have consequently slackened. The only violence reported today was the firing by police on a "liberty" camp in the Madras presidency. Schools have been closed in many districts as a protest against the Simon report. Effigies of the seven members of the Simon commission were burned at Lahore.

Fire Fighters Show Off New Hose; Town Burns

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, June 25.—While trying out a new hose, purchased after a year's saving by the volunteer fire department, the town of Alsedsha burned down during yesterday's midsummer celebrations. As a climax to the program the fire chief set a large barn afire on the outskirts of the town. When the volunteers, pulling the primitive apparatus, arrived the fire was beyond control and hundreds of houses were destroyed. The fire chief has disappeared.

DOCTORS IN SPAIN HEAR ARGENTINE HEARTS BY RADIO

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, June 25.—Heart pulsations and sounds made in the lungs by breathing have been transmitted from Buenos Aires to Madrid by radio telephone with a clearness which enabled listening Spanish doctors to diagnose the disease from which each patient used in the experiment was suffering.

The experiment lasted an hour. In each case the doctors phoned back the condition of the heart and lungs listened to.

The transmission was made over an ordinary commercial telephone circuit from an instrument recently invented by an Argentine surgeon, which sends sounds from the heart and lungs greatly amplified through a loud speaker, at the same time registering their intensity on a galvanometer.

Kreitenberg charges that he was assaulted, thrown out of the synagogue, and falsely arrested. The defendants are Max Katz, Abe Rosen, Mitchell Mack and Schuman Hyman.

POLICE, FIREMEN WILL BE PAID WITHIN 10 DAYS

No Money Is in Sight for 14,000 Teachers.

The police and firemen, whose salaries for the first half of June were due on June 16, and other city employés whose pay is in arrears, will be paid within 10 days, according to V. S. Petterson, deputy city controller. Petterson said yesterday that he was "scraping every available fund to gather sufficient money to pay the overdue salaries." Approximately $2,000,000 will be needed for this purpose.

For the 14,000 school teachers whose salaries are due tomorrow, after which the schools will close for the summer, no money was in sight yesterday. President Caldwell of the school board said arrangements for obtaining the salary money from the citizens' relief fund can not be definitely made until the return of Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' committee, from Springfield.

After receiving notice yesterday that the state senate had passed the Strawn financial relief bills, Ald. John S. Clark [50th], chairman of the council finance committee, began preparations to make appropriations supplementary to the city's 1930 budget passed last January. The council will have to pass a number of appropriation and tax levy ordinances before it can take advantage of the additional funds allowed in the bills.

BRITAIN DEMANDS VATICAN QUIT MALTA POLITICS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—Speaking in the house of lords tonight in a debate on the political crisis in Malta, Lord Passfield, secretary for the dominions, said:

"The government has informed the Vatican that resumption of negotiations must be conditional upon orders given by the holy see to their ecclesiastical authorities in Malta that they shall restore to the electorate of the crown colony complete freedom to exercise their political judgment. That is all we have stipulated for. No government could stipulate for less.

"We are suspending the constitution of Malta in order to save the constitution. We see no sense in giving way to the demands of the Vatican that Premier Lord Strickland and his colleagues be removed, and we have no intention of doing so."

CHICAGOAN HELD IN NEW YORK AS SLAYER SUSPECT

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—Clarence James Pratt of Chicago, twenty-one, was arrested in Riverside park as a vagrant today and on examination of his pockets became the fifty-second suspect in the murder of Noel Sowley and Joseph Mozynski in Queens by a "maniac" killer.

Pratt had a card in his pocket inscribed in a code in which "3-X" occurred and also he had a photograph of a skull and cross-bones with two "y's" and "9" marked on it, some letters, a picture of a girl, and his fingerprints done in red ink on paper. He wore a religious medal around his neck and a ring with a religious emblem adorned the little finger of his left hand.

Barker Attempts to Flee Wife; Iron Ball Stops Him

New York, June 25.—[Special]—Clad in prison clothes and with an iron ball shackled to one of his ankles a barker at Coney Island barked today about the prison horrors depicted in the show just inside. He was seen by a woman in the crowd who claimed to be his wife whom he deserted several months ago. He attempted to flee. But the ball and chain was too great a handicap. He was hailed into the Coney Island police station.

ASK U. S. CREDIT FOR INCOME TAX PAID TO STATES

Farm Group Would Cut Property Levy.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A proposal that congress should provide for a deduction of state income taxes from federal income taxes was among the suggestions made yesterday at a taxation conference held at the Palmer house at the call of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The proposal is to be submitted today to the directors of the federation who are seeking to formulate some uniform plan to advance in the several states with a view of shifting part of the tax burden from farms and general property to incomes and intangibles.

Indorse Four Propositions.

A resolution carrying four items was submitted after Claude H. McKenzie, a state senator of Minnesota, chairman of the national council of state legislators' public relations committee, had asked that no definite action be taken until the conference might coördinate its action with that of other national bodies studying the tax situation. After discussion the conference adopted a resolution in favor of the following:

1. Re-allocation of taxing powers between the federal government and the governments of the several states for the purpose of providing economy and equality in tax burden.
2. Provision by congress for a deduction of state income taxes from federal income taxes, "in accordance with the form of deduction employed with relation to inheritances."

Urges Economy Program.

3. Coöperation of all governing bodies for a rigid program of economy in the expenditure of public funds.
4. A program of education by the Farm Bureau federation.

Representatives of farm bureaus in fifteen states were among the attendants at the conference, headed by John C. Watson, chairman of a tax investigation committee established by the federation last year.

"Something must be done to lift the tax burden from farmers and property owners," said A. J. Olson, Renville, Minn., one of the delegates. "Eighty per cent of $154,000,000 collected in taxes in Minnesota last year was paid by property holders. We feel that a state income tax, plus a cigarette, cosmetics, or even a personal head tax, should be established to provide approximately $50,000,000 of that amount."

BOULDER DAM FIGHT DROPPED IN THE SENATE

Money Bill Is Due to Pass Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—Passage by the senate tomorrow of the second deficiency appropriation bill, including among other items an authorization of $21,000,000 for the new Chicago postoffice and an initial allotment of $10,660,000 for the Boulder canyon dam project was virtually assured tonight.

Moved by the insistence of Senators H. F. Ashurst and Carl Hayden [Dem., Ariz.] that they had no intention of filibustering against the Boulder dam appropriation, Senator W. L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], chairman of the senate appropriations committee, withdrew the petition for cloture on the bill which he submitted yesterday.

Tomorrow, under a tentative agreement reached today, Ashurst will conclude a speech begun late this afternoon, Hayden will be allowed one hour, and, it is expected, a final vote on the Boulder dam item will be had at about 3 o'clock.

Less than two hours, Senator Jones predicted, will be required tomorrow to dispose of the controversy over an appropriation for the Wickersham commission.

Prior to the collapse of the Boulder dam fight an unexpected filibuster against the deficiency bill, led by Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.] was broken by a roll call vote which displaced the Michigan senator's bill to regulate interstate motor bus traffic and made the appropriation bill the unfinished business until disposed of.

Ashurst, conceding the futility of a filibuster against the Boulder dam appropriation, contented himself with reiterating Arizona's contentions that the promises made when the Boulder dam bill was passed have not been complied with.

SENATOR SAYS PACT PUTS U. S. TRADE IN PERIL

McKellar Speaks on Radio Against Treaty.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—Asserting that the American delegation was out-traded by the British and Japanese at the London conference Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.] denounced the navy limitation treaty in a radio address tonight as certain to result in "great injury" to the United States. He said that not more than a corporal's guard of the senate would vote for the treaty but for the influence of Senators David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] and Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], who helped to negotiate it.

"It requires us," said McKellar, "to build ships of a kind and size that Great Britain is willing for us to build. It prohibits America from building the kind and size of ships and guns that America thinks is best for her own defense.

"There is no way for America, without naval bases, to obtain parity with Great Britain in cruiser strength except to have the larger ships and guns, and it is doubtful if it can be gotten that way.

Prevents Defense of Trade.

"The treaty deprives America of the right and power to build a navy that will defend American possessions in the far east, notably the Philippine Islands. All of our experts agree that we cannot defend the Philippine Islands on the basis of this treaty.

"It prevents America from defending the greater part of our foreign trade on the high seas.

"Yet it leaves Great Britain the power to protect her commerce practically everywhere.

"It also gives to Great Britain the power to put economic pressure on America equivalent to business ruin.

"Again, our sea commerce is nearly 15 billions of dollars in value every year, and yet we deprive ourselves by this treaty of the right and power to defend that enormous commerce wherever it may go because the kind of ships that Great Britain will permit us to build under this treaty are not large enough and do not have guns large enough to protect our commerce.

Freedom of Seas Impaired.

"It does not provide for the freedom of the seas and it denies to us the power to maintain that freedom for ourselves.

"And yet it leaves to Great Britain the power to assure that freedom of the seas for herself."

The Tennessee senator recalled British seizures of American cargoes in the world war, which caused him, he said, to vow that he never would vote for a measure making the American navy inferior to any other. He said that if we ever have to fight again it will be with the "six inch guns that Admiral Hoover and Admiral Stimson and Admiral Reed" have provided.

The White House stated that the President will not be deterred from calling a special session of the senate by the senatorial round robin urging postponement of action on the treaty till after the elections.

3 CHICAGO FOLK ARE DROWNED AT SUMMER RESORTS

Three Chicago residents were drowned yesterday at summer resorts in the rush to escape the heat.

John Hulinger, a tailor, 26 years old, 1813 Cleveland avenue, was drowned when he dived into seven feet of water at Fox lake. Two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Huyck of Chicago, Virginia, 8 years old, and Betty, 10, lost their lives when they stepped into deep water in Lake Nancy, near Minong in northern Wisconsin.

DAWES REPORTS TO HOOVER ON EVE OF SAILING

Morrow Also White House Visitor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to Great Britain, and Dwight Morrow, United States ambassador to Mexico, discussed the London naval treaty and other matters dealing with this country's foreign relations with President Hoover this morning. Late this afternoon Mr. Dawes returned to the White House, where he was a guest until his departure late this evening for New York. He will sail on the Majestic Friday for England.

Neither ambassador would comment on the interviews with the President and with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

Interviewed by newspaper men, Gen. Dawes said he was greatly pleased with the progress of the plans for the Chicago exposition in 1933. He said that as chairman of the exposition finance committee he had $10,000,000 in the bank to carry on preparations for the fair. This sum, he said, should be sufficient at least for another year.

Gen. Dawes called attention to a bill just signed by the President providing for the participation of the United States in the French colonial exposition next year. This action assures the participation of France in the Chicago exposition.

Mr. Morrow declined to discuss his recent political success in winning the Republican nomination for senator in New Jersey. He stated, however, that he will return to Mexico at once and remain there until some time in September. His resignation will be sent from Mexico City early this fall.

Following his White House visit Mr. Morrow said he had urged President Hoover to visit Mexico this summer or in the early fall.

"I would like to have the President spend a few days in Mexico City before I retire," Mr. Morrow said. "The President is considering the suggestion."

BRITAIN'S 1930 NAVAL PROGRAM IS 20 WARSHIPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—Great Britain's 1930 naval construction program, which was announced in the house of commons today by the first lord of the admiralty, A. V. Alexander, is as follows:

Three six inch gun cruisers, nine destroyers, three submarines, four sloops, and one net layer and target towing vessel.

It is estimated that two years will be required to build the ships and that the cost will be $45,000,000.

"I wish to emphasize that these ships are required to replace others which will have passed the age limit and to enable the navy to carry out its current duties in the time of peace," Mr. Alexander said. "This program has no relation to those of other powers."

Kingsford-Smith flies with Mobiloil

In Thrilling Dash From Europe Across the Atlantic

Against the pounding headwinds of the North Atlantic—

Over the hazardous East-West course from Europe to North America—

Major Kingsford-Smith has thrilled the world with another daring exploit.

And again Gargoyle Mobiloil flies with the pioneers of aviation progress!

Confident of Mobiloil's dependable performance and low rate of consumption, Major Kingsford-Smith carried only 15 gallons for each of his three Wright Whirlwind engines. In spite of the gruelling trip, inspection showed the oil in excellent condition when he landed.

Completing this last flight gives the Southern Cross a remarkable record. Since flying it across the Pacific in 1928, Major Kingsford-Smith has piloted this giant Fokker across every ocean except the Polar Seas.

The same qualities which make Mobiloil the choice of so many experienced pilots also account for its two-to-one preference among experienced motorists—

1. Lower fuel and oil consumption
2. Less carbon
3. Greater freedom from gumming
4. Longer engine life

ITALY SLASHES ALL EXPENSES EXCEPT FOR 'WAR'

May Need Cash for Guns, Senate Told.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 25.—Minister of Finance Antonio Mosconi, addressing the senate in a budget speech, today promised severe government measures, strictly limiting state expenses, which this year are facing a $12,337,500 deficit. In the next breath Minister Mosconi warned, however, that further expenditures for national defense and fortifications might still further be expected.

"Italy is faithful to a peace policy, but she cannot shut her eyes to the increasing military expenditures along her borders," he said, referring to the French plans to spend $120,000,000 on the Nice and Alpine border fortifications.

"In the face of this the government feels its responsibility and remembers the Roman maxim, 'If you wish peace, prepare for war.' The Italian people will accept further sacrifices to assure an indispensable means to defend the country."

Defends Duce's "Warlike" Words.

MILAN, Italy, June 25.—Arnoldo Mussolini, brother of il Duce, today in Popolo d'Italia, his newspaper, declares that Premier Mussolini had knowledge of France's military preparations when he made his speeches in May to the Fascist forces in Tuscany and Lombardy.

The speeches, therefore, were justified, the article says, adding that they were "opportune."

"We now can understand why, although the Duce never talked of foreign peoples and governments, but alluded solely to men, parties and sects, the speeches created such a great impression in France," the article asserts. "It was because in France alone live, prosper, and organize the men, parties, groups, and sects which regard sympathetically the eventuality of war against Fascist Italy.

"Now nobody in the world can have the colossal impudence of believing that the gigantic programs of French armaments were in consequence of Mussolini's speeches in Leghorn, Florence, and Milan. Today we know that those armaments already had been predisposed and financed early in 1929."

Briand Tries to Patch Quarrel.

Sandino Reported Shot in Leg in Clash with Marines

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 25.—(AP)—Gen. Augusto Sandino was said today to be suffering from a wound in the leg received in a recent encounter with American marines and Nicaraguan constabulary. Gen. D. C. McDougal, United States marine officer in charge of the Nicaraguan national guard, said that his informant was a Nicaraguan captured by Sandinistas, who escaped recently, but while a captive recognized Sandino.

FAHERTY RAPS HIRED FOES OF SPECIAL TAXES

Increase Public Works Costs, He Says.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, yesterday denounced the professional organizations that make a business of fighting in court for reductions in the amounts of special assessments levied against property owners for public improvements.

These organizations, according to Faherty, solicit as clients all the property owners who are to be assessed for an improvement. In case the court lowers the assessment against an organization client the organization takes 25 per cent of the reduction and an additional 8 1-3 per cent for its attorney, Faherty declared. Five per cent of the total assessment is taken as the fee if the proposed improvement is defeated, he said.

Says City Costs Are Increased.

"The attractive part of their proposal is that no charge is made if no reduction is obtained," said Faherty. "Naturally, nearly every property owner is willing to become a client on that basis and the fight in court against the city is on. Confirmation of the assessment is delayed and the city incurs additional expense to fight the reductions."

As an illustration Faherty said that the city last week decided to open Seneca street from Pearson street to Chicago avenue. Property owners who would be assessed in the vicinity, he declared, have received a letter from Lloyd's Property Owners' association asking them to let the association represent them in the special assessment proceeding.

Gives Figures on Reductions.

In recent cases Faherty gave the following figures to show what reductions had been obtained by such associations:

Improvement—	Estimated cost.	Court reduction.
Western avenue from Madison to Ogden	$318,000	$39,929
Western avenue from Madison to Chicago avenue	333,000	47,611
Bryn Mawr avenue from Northwest highway to Central avenue	126,000	7,867

While the assessment roll for Berteau avenue is not completed yet, Faherty said that the objectors represented by Lloyd's obtained a 20 per cent reduction.

In the last session of the legislature a bill was introduced by Representative Rena Elrod to prohibit soliciting of the business of obtaining reductions of special assessments or other forms of special taxation in person, by agent or by advertising. The bill was tabled.

A VOTE FOR WORK AND WAGES.

A vote for the traction ordinance next Tuesday is a vote for work and wages.

Within a few weeks, if the ordinance is approved, several hundred surveyors and architectural and engineering draftsmen and estimators should be at work on the extensions and subways. Rapidly the field of activity will expand. Thousands of tons of steel and copper for construction and equipment will be required. Masons, carpenters, plumbers, and other building mechanics must be recruited by hundreds. Electricians will find work. As soon as the extensions have been built more cars will be needed and more motormen and conductors to man them. A ten year program of building, in which at least three hundred million dollars will be spent, will be in full swing.

The opponents of the ordinance are pleading with workmen to vote against it on July 1 because, if passed on July 1, the ordinance will not provide 10,000 jobs on July 2. Prevent the extension of the elevated and surface lines into new territory, say the obstructionists, though the opening of new sections will certainly be followed by much building activity. Hold everything. Do not budge for fear you will fall and hurt yourself.

This line of argument raises the question of how many jobs will be created by the defeat of the ordinance. The answer, of course, is none, and less than none. As the passage of the ordinance will of itself tend to restore confidence in the future, its defeat will only serve to add weight to the unreasonable pessimism which is now depressing the nation's economic life.

The well fed opponents of the ordinance wave its job-making possibilities aside as of little consequence. They overlook the fact that unemployment in Chicago today is a tragic fact in the lives of tens of thousands of men and their families. They overlook the other fact that Chicago's present transportation facilities are a disgrace to the city and an insult to those who must use them.

The voters must ask themselves whether they are likely to get a settlement some time in the future which will be so much better than this one that the delay will be worth what it will cost meanwhile in unemployment and bad transportation. For our part we are convinced that the ordinance to be voted on is acceptable as it stands and it is not likely to be improved upon four or five years hence.

THE AMERICAN ARMY IN GERMANY.

The treasury department announces that the United States and Germany have signed an agreement for the discharge of war obligations, being costs of the army of occupation and awards by the mixed claims commission. The period of payment is sixty-six years. Germany will pay $505,000,000 on awards and $250,000,000 for occupation costs. The nation cannot have much pride in the imposition or collection of the second bill.

In excuse for the occupation it may be said that it presented the solid allied front during the armistice and pending the negotiation of the treaty, but the treaty produced behind this solid front had too much blood and iron for the United States and consequently was rejected. The best part of the country is glad that it escaped any responsibility for the conditions fixed by it. It could be said that if the American force had not held its section another army would have, but that would have been no affair of the United States. Not to go in might have deprived the high command of the pleasure of conducting a safe military enterprise in the territory of a defeated people, but if that reward of effort was due the command the upkeep was a charge against the United States. There was an opportunity to polish up the troops and one splendid unit was sent to London for a ceremonial, where it did not make the hit its appearance merited, possibly because the fine looking soldiers were alive. The men polished up were most of them aching to get out of service and go home, so it was a bit tough on them and their only consolation was that other fellows in worse luck were engaged in that strange and horrible war after the war up in the snow of northern Russia, a bit of military madness which adorned the early Red period.

When Germany paid the occupation costs the United States managed to get swindled out of its share on some shrewd allied theory that nothing was due America because it was not accepting the treaty of peace. If the folks at home had not threatened to get mad about it the boys might have remained until the French pulled out. It was generally emphasized during the war that the United States was fighting the Germany of monarchical government and its war lords. This bill is handed the German republic and its democratic government as something additional to carry while they are making their new order stick. Technically the collection can be justified, but the whole episode has an odor that is not a fragrance, something like the emanation from the unpaid southern state bonds held abroad.

THE COMMUNISM OF WAR.

A report of the annual meeting of the American Medical association in Detroit said that the convention memorialized President Hoover and congress "on the subject of war veterans' relief, the physicians taking the stand that the policy of furnishing hospital care to the ex-soldiers bordered on communism."

War frequently borders on communism by necessity and, when an army is raised by draft, the men taken into service are completely communized. Their individuality as citizens has been merged into the military mass. Temporarily their wills have been suspended, their initiative revoked, their movements compelled or constrained and they are the instruments working for the preservation of the state.

Other citizens not taken into military service do not get this complete communization, but they get degrees of it, having their property appropriated through taxation for the national purpose. A nation thoroughly engaged in a great war uses all the communistic practices which regimented effort requires. When its need is over it gets back to individualism as quickly as it can, if it is wise, except, if it has decent instincts, with regard to the disabled veterans of the war.

There communism, meaning some attempt at community recompense for injuries suffered in common service, will be continued. The doctors and all other citizens may be advised that this attempt, even when it is most wise and most humane, will be sorrowfully inadequate in many cases. Every pension system will be subjected to certain political abuse, but the persons who undertake to prevent that—and it should be opposed as every other abuse of public funds should be opposed—will do well to guard themselves carefully against contributing to the neglect of men who may have suffered irremediably in the communism of war for their fellow citizens.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN DOMESTIC AFFAIRS.

The indifference of administration leaders in congress to questions of immigration relating to problems of unemployment would seem to ask whether there was any real interest in the latter. The state department delicacy regarding Mexico and the proposal to classify that nation with the quota countries sponsored an obstruction in the house of representatives.

This is an unsafe principle of diplomatic intervention in domestic legislation. There is bound to be some of it, but it is not admissible when it infringes undisputed national rights. If congress were proposing to injure a friendly nation with a piece of malice or folly it would be opposed, but it is quite another matter to make the sentimentality or the advantages of another country paramount to the requirements of the United States. It is an opening which other nations quickly use. There may be cases in which they should protest, but Mr. Stimson's conduct will make every issue protestable. It is an elementary right for a country to admit or exclude as it pleases. European policy in this respect is drastic. The United States has tried to make its regulations uniform. When they are discriminatory a sustaining reason is given for it.

Friendly relations with Mexico are desired and they have been cultivated with patience and good will most of the time. The quota proposed for Mexicans would have given them what the great nations of the world accept as a reasonable regulation of entry into the country. If the state department can't operate under such an immigration restriction it is bound to be swamped by the first major problem which greets it.

A holiday in all immigration would give the opportunities of the country a chance to absorb the labor which now is idle. That is the first precaution taken by a land with more workers than it has work. A British government which let in alien takers of British employment would be out on its back in a day.

Editorial of the Day

TO STRIKE AT ILLITERACY.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

It is now indicated that at least one cross section of information assembled by census enumerators will be immune from regulations of secrecy that are supposed to surround data thus gathered; that the mass information emerging from the activities of the census bureau will not be entirely impersonal. The illiterates of the nation will not be lost as to names and addresses. They will become laboratory material for use by the national advisory committee on illiteracy in the effort that agency will make—working in unofficial coöperation with the United States commissioner of education—to raise the United States out of its place so far down the list of literate among civilized nations.

Dr. M. S. Robertson, who decreased illiteracy in his home state of Louisiana last year by almost one-third, has been called to the directorship of the national advisory committee by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, who is chairman of this independent body, which is supported privately by philanthropists.

Dr. Robertson believes that approximately 4,000,000 cards containing the names and addresses of persons over 10 years of age who cannot write in any language will come to committee workers from the census files. These will be our illiterates, as we classify illiterates. And they will form the material with which Dr. Robertson hopes in the next five or ten years to raise the United States to literacy comparable to the literacy of nations of Europe that lead us—Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Norway, Scotland, England and Wales, and France, in order, according to the Louisiana specialist. The extremes—though the percentages are not Dr. Robertson's—will serve to measure the existing gap: Germany, according to a semi-official estimate, is .03 per cent illiterate; the United States, 1920 census, 5.9 per cent; with the other countries occupying middle ground. So Dr. Robertson has his task laid out for him.

On the basis of 1920 census returns, which showed almost 1,000,000 more illiterates than Dr. Robertson expects to find in the present census, about 25 per cent of our illiterates were native whites, with the remainder divided almost equally between Negroes and foreign born whites.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. —Ed.

NOW THIS BRIGHT, BEAUTIFUL MORNING

Let us look around and see what this great world is doing. First let us look at the stock market and see how it closed yesterday. No! on second thought let us not do any such silly thing. We want to eat breakfast and if you've a favorite stock (and, indeed, who has not?) why spoil the day. Ah, but here is something to feel Pollyannaish about. The flyers from Ireland, who landed yesterday in Newfoundland, are well and happy and will soon start, if they haven't already, for New York. If Providence had been so kind to us when we were away up in the air, in the fogs and the plaything of harsh winds, and had graciously permitted us to land in Newfoundland we would not tempt fate farther by going to New York.

What a dreadful place is that New York! The dry sleuths have been reluctantly compelled to raid the Park Casino and the Ritz Carlton, the most ultra-ultra-fashionable resorts in New York. And many gentlemen in evening dress were carted to the hoosegow. How dreadful to take a New York society man in evening dress to the hoosegow. It has been generally believed that only vulgar persons who drank alcohol out of automobile radiators or white mule were amenable to arrest under the 18th amendment, but something seems to have gone wrong in New York.

But the point is, that if a kind Providence had dropped us down in Newfoundland we would most assuredly stay there and be very glad of the opportunity. It's a wonderful country, Newfoundland, free and everything. Wine and beer may be partaken of without the danger of being hauled off to the hoosegow. There is no Bishop Cannon in Newfoundland, no reformers to sit on your neck and tell you what you shall eat and what you shall drink and what necktie you shall wear and what clothes to put on and what you shall read and what you shall think. No, if our airplane is ever forced down in Newfoundland we're not going to hurry away.

PROTEST.

O vagrant tunes
Out of the night, out of the dark and dew,
Have done; though words were goldener than moons
They would not hold you.

Not the great pine
Filled with the storm, filled with the sighing sea,
Could bear the weight on his frail melody
Of you divine;

The night is long.
Whisper no more against the hush of the night
Music undreamed, so terrible with delight,
So more than song.

Be still, be still,
Whisper no more; draw back your gleaming tides,
Your floods of starry silver, from the sides
Of glen and hill;

From this gray shore
Backward and backward call the shining sound.
We are chained forever to a sunken ground;
Whisper no more.

DOROTHY R. KISSLING.

"THAT GUY," said a friend of ours yesterday, speaking of a certain person, "he's —— well, he's wheat, that's all." "And why," whyed we, "do you call him wheat?" "Look at the stock market closings for today," quoth he, "and you'll see that wheat's so low it could walk under a grasshopper's stomach."

LOOK HERE! maybe we can put our finger right on the seat of the trouble. Figures just published show that the United States of America shipped abroad lead pencil erasers to the value of $628,210. Now suppose we hadn't shipped all those erasers out of the country, but had put 'em all down in Washington, maybe things wouldn't be the way they are.

AND ANOTHER THING! We wish the particular stock market announcer that we listen to every day at 12 noon sharp only knew how much he added to the agony we daily undergo in listening to stocks crashing by his continually speaking of a-mal-A-ga-mation. It's bad enough to listen to steel and consolidated this and that hitting on the cruel rocks at the foot of the cliff without listening to this bird saying "amalAgamation." Oh we beg of you, radio announcer, have a heart and look in Mr. Webster's w. k. collections of words.

CEMENT WORKS AND DUST.

UP TO DATE cement works are fairly free from dust. The air in such an institution should not predispose to either consumption or pneumonia. Recently Dr. Hall, state health director of Illinois, and his board were invited to inspect the Buffington cement works and the Gary steel mills. In the Buffington plant they found that the various machines which were great dust producers were operating under suction pipes with draft sufficiently strong to pull the dusty air out of the room. The dust was conducted to high stacks equipped with Cottrell dust removers. The Cottrell method consists in sending a sheet of electricity across the stack and, therefore, through the dust laden, ascending current of smoke and air. When this apparatus was in use the air and smoke pouring from the stack was almost dust free. When the current was turned off and the Cottrell installation was not working, a black mixture rolled from the stack, polluting the air for a long distance roundabout.

Over in one corner was an old plant built and operating under the old system. It was enveloped by a cloud of dust. Dust issued from all the openings and belched from the stacks. The visitors were told that the new method not only secured clean air and all that that implied for the health and welfare of the workmen, but that in saving 95 per cent of the cement which formerly went out the stacks it was earning its way as a financial proposition.

Once the trees and other vegetation within several hundred yards were dust covered and unhealthy. Now nearby trees and grass are green and thriving.

The next two observations have nothing to do with cement or dust, or their control, but they are related to health and the economics of production. In the Gary plant there is an enormous bank of producer engines. These engines are run by gases which, under the old system, escaped from the stacks of old style steam making apparatus. These gases are now saved and used as fuel with enormous saving in cost of operation. To a health man the chief point of interest was that these gases contain harmful compounds, some violently poisonous. Under the old order they caused cases of gas poisoning and, in some measure, they poisoned the general atmosphere.

The last point noted was this: In certain processes poisonous gases are produced. Experience during the world war proved that some poisonous gases tended to accumulate in cellars, basements, and other low places. In this plant wherever such gases are liable to accumulate in poisonous proportions fans and ducts provide for a safe air supply.

SLEEP AND FLOWERS.

C. writes: Recently I read in a newspaper column that if a person went to sleep in a room filled with flowers, and windows closed, he would never wake up. Is this true?

REPLY.

A considerable use of carbon monoxide in the air of such a room would have the effect inquired about. But flowers do not produce carbon monoxide. Nor does a man. The gases produced by men and by flowers are only mildly harmful. Nor would the man or flowers reduce the oxygen to the danger line.

DUE TO MENTAL SHOCK.

A. C. writes: What causes a person to have a sensation of fainting every time he speaks of or sees blood? Is this imagination? Do people faint, as a rule, when the subject of conversation is blood? This person has to leave every time the subject is brought up. He has fainted but once, soon after he returned from the hospital.

REPLY.

Fainting is due to sudden drop in blood pressure. Mental shock can cause this. This tendency to faint because of mental shock can be overcome by training.

SALT FOR THE GUMS.

Mrs. S. F. W. writes: I put salt on my toothbrush and massage my gums every morning. Please tell me if this is injurious to my gums, or the bone, or teeth. I use a soft brush for this.

REPLY.

Salt as a toothpowder has been in use for a long time. It is very good. Sometimes the finely ground salt is mixed with some neutral powder.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 26, 1865.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The site for the Lincoln national monument has been selected at Oak Ridge cemetery and arrangements will at once be made for beginning its erection.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's New Orleans special says on the authority of Texas officers that 5,000 of the late rebel army in Texas have crossed the Rio Grande to enter the Mexican service. They are mostly from Mississippi and Texas. They declared they could not live under the United States flag and would even fight with Negroes against it.

WASHINGTON. — Judge Cawley complained to President Johnson that the friends of Negro suffrage in Charleston were not allowed to hold public meetings by the generals in command at that place. The President promised to redress the grievance.

CHICAGO.—A party of surveyors, headed by A. J. Mathewson, is engaged in making a survey of the Illinois and Michigan canal, preparatory to deepening it, so as to purify the Chicago river by causing its waters to flow into the canal and thence into the Illinois river. The entire cost of deepening will be about $2,000,000.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 26, 1900.

SPRINGFIELD.—On the eve of the Democratic state convention, Samuel Alschuler appears to be in the lead for the nomination for governor. However, ex-Congressman W. H. Hinrichsen still insists that the convention eventually will nominate Carter H. Harrison on a stampede. Alfred Orendorf of Springfield and Adam Ortseifen of Chicago declare their chances are better than ever.

CHEEFOO.—Rear Admiral Kempff reports by a Japanese torpedo boat that the combined forces of the foreign allies entered Tientsin on June 23, sustaining small loss.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Harrison vetoed the Ogden gas ordinance by which the sale of the company to the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company could be consummated, and also the ordinance giving the St. Paul railroad the right to change its motive power from steam to electricity.

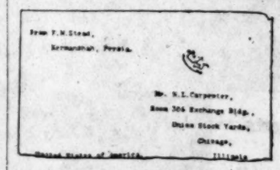
10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 26, 1920.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Arthur Sears Henning says there are three major factions maneuvering to make its leader the Democratic nominee for President at the convention here. In the order named they are James M. Cox, governor of Ohio; William G. McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson, and A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general in Wilson's cabinet. In the background of possibilities are Vice President Marshall, John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain; former Speaker Champ Clark, and, lastly, President Wilson himself. The Wilson forces claim sufficient strength to write a strong Wilson platform.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by H. L. Carpenter, 366 Exchange building, Union Stock Yards, Chicago:

"I am inclosing an envelope which I received from Kermanshah, Persia," Mr. Carpenter writes. "It was written by the Rev. Frank M. Stead. He has a farm near there and is caring for a large number of orphans, both boys and girls. He is located some ten or fifteen miles from Kermanshah. I will quote one paragraph from his letter:

"'The children are doing well. We had another little girl brought in a few days ago. She was very weak when she came, but has picked up wonderfully within a week. Now that spring has come and we are getting more milk and can feed the children on more milk products, they seem, all of them, to be getting in better shape.'"

Kermanshah is a Persian town in the province of Ardilan, about 300 miles southwest of Teheran. An earthen wall nearly three miles in circumference surrounds the city, which is a good trade center because it forms the juncture of roads from more important towns.

THE PIPES OF PAN

[London Daily Express.]

Mussolini, in a recent speech: "Though words are very beautiful things rifles, machine guns, ships, airplanes, and cannons are more beautiful things still."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

UNIVERSAL TRANSFER.

Chicago, June 24.—May I ask the opponents of the traction ordinance why they have been so quiet as to the universal transfer, which means a saving of 40 per cent in the cost of using both the "L" and the street cars?

What does the riding public care about the nature of the franchise, so long as it brings relief from the present insufferable situation in regards to local transportation?

The opponents of the ordinance have indirectly put the stamp of approval on it by the nature of their attacks and their failure to prove that there is anything inherently wrong with it. And, in so doing, they have convinced at least the writer that they are not and never were seeking to protect the interests of the public. BOOSTER.

INCREASING THE CAPACITY OF THE LOOP.

Chicago, June 24.—The writer has repeatedly pointed out to traction authorities and others that the tracks of the elevated loop are now being used to the extent only of a small fraction of their potential capacity. All that is required to increase that capacity indefinitely is a few minor changes in structure and routing as follows:

1. All west side trains should be made to through route on the two tracks on Wells street between Van Buren and Lake streets. Those coming in at Lake street, say, going south on the west track, then west on Van Buren street, and conversely, those coming in from Van Buren street going north on the east track and west on Lake street.

2. North and south side trains to through route on the Lake street and Wabash avenue tracks, the northbound trains taking the outer track and the south bound trains the inner.

3. A transfer station at Lake and Wells streets.

4. The Van Buren street tracks to be taken down or used for operating a shuttle between Wells street and Wabash avenue.

This arrangement will absolutely through route all trains running in the loop district without any switches or crossovers whatever, without loss of time of any one train waiting for another to clear the point of switch or crossing, as the case may be, with double tracking throughout. This congestion of the loop can thus be remedied by an expenditure of a paltry few thousand dollars; and to propose a hundred million dollar subway as a remedy is like using the proverbial cannon ball to kill a fly.

If, in spite of all that has been said, a subway should be deemed desirable, other arguments should be advanced than that the loop has reached its capacity, or is likely to do so within any reasonable time in the future.

JACOB G. GROSSBERG.

MOTOR BUSES.

Chicago, June 19.—In all of the discussions, pro and con, of the new Chicago traction ordinance, one hears nothing about the Chicago Motor Coach company.

Are not the motor buses part of Chicago's transportation system?

Why are they not included in and made a part of the "unified" traction system, with transfers to and from street, elevated, and subway lines?

Is it cheaper to lay tracks, construct an overhead trolley system and build elevated structures, with their inflexible lines and tieups in case of accident, fires, etc., than to operate motor buses, a part or all of which can be rerouted around delays or troubles, without disruptions of services, when a single unit has an accident or is delayed? T. J. L.

TOUGH LUCK.

Chicago, June 23.—During the last week I sent you three times an article for publication in the column Voice of the People about the traction plan to be voted on July 1. Of course the article did not appear. It needs a gentleman editor to publish such an article. The column was filled up with articles about robins. I suppose that so by and by you will have a robin in your head. WILLIAM EICHLER.

TOO MANY UNIFORM CHANGES.

Chicago, June 22.—Why is the policeman's uniform the pet peeve of every newly appointed chief? In the last three years the entire uniform of the policemen has been changed twice for no good reason at all. The police department is supposed to be a nongrafting one, but how can a chief expect this when every policeman in uniform is put to the unnecessary expense of new uniforms, including overcoats, twice in 3 years? POLICEMAN'S WIFE.

IMPROVING THE PLANETARIUM.

Chicago, June 20.—In this column of June 15 appeared a letter signed by E. S. Smulevitz, expressing pride, which all people of this community must feel in the Adler Planetarium and Astronomical museum. Suggestions for the improvement of it are very welcome.

It must of course be realized that the construction of the building, its furnishing, the preparation and collection of exhibits for the museum, the installation of the planetarium instrument, and the assembling of the staff were accomplished in record time, but a few days in excess of a year. It is not to be wondered, therefore, that in certain respects the museum is incomplete. For that matter, a museum is never complete. However, when the planetarium instrument, in which there was such tremendous interest, was ready it seemed that we were not justified in delaying the opening.

The preparation of legends for the exhibits, the lack of which was especially noted, is proceeding. The legends for the 72 large transparencies from astronomical photographs were in place at the opening. At the present time the legends for the larger exhibits are in. It will not be long until the visitor may move about the corridors and find every item appropriately described.

We await the arrival of additional instruments which are on order, and have certain others in preparation here to illustrate the laws of optics, dynamics and spectroscopy.

The energy of the staff since the opening has been almost completely devoted to caring for the many visitors who have daily crowded the lecture room and museum halls. The attendance to date has been 111,044. We hope that the visitors will be charitable of the unavoidable delays in labeling exhibits even as many of them are being generous in adding to our collection.

The matter of the bridge is quite beyond the control of the director of this museum, but you may be assured that this community, through the south park commissioners, will prepare an approach to this building which will be adequate for the traffic and suitable for the beauty and dignity of the building.

PHILIP FOX,
Director, Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum.

THE INSANE FOURTH.

Chicago, June 23.—The front page of our TRIBUNE has become the funny page of the paper. How long has this been going on? I am referring now to the issue of June 22, 1930, carrying the insane article by Kathleen McLaughlin giving insane advice to our insane brethren who insist upon burning their paws and blowing off their worthless heads with fireworks during the period of June 15 to July 10, or thereabouts. In one breath she says that the condition is growing worse and in the next she encourages those who might be deterred by fear of injury by telling them just exactly what to do and how to do it in six sections.

A few years ago the writer, when the noise became unbearable about a week before the glorious Fourth, appealed in person to the neighborhood police station. The officer at the desk sheepishly grinned and said: "We can't do nothin' about it. The people gotta have their fun." Just exactly the kind of reply one would expect from an unfortunate inmate of an institution for imbeciles.

"The people gotta have their fun." What tragic fun! And at what dreadful expense to the thousands of sick people all over the city, who must lie in their beds and listen to this nonsense pitifully wishing that this stupid idea of making unnecessary noise could be driven out of the minds of those who consider nothing but their own barbaric instincts.

GEORGE H. MASEK.

JUDGES' CAVE.

Chicago, June 23.—In yesterday's TRIBUNE you printed a story from New Haven, Conn., about a man who threw his wife, children, and then himself from the top of West rock. In today's TRIBUNE is another story telling of the crowds that visited the scene of this tragedy.

On the top of this great rock is a pile of huge bowlders known as Judges' cave. It was in this cave that the regicides Goffe, Whalley, and Dixwell, who were members of the high court of justice that condemned Charles I. to the block, hid in the latter half of the seventeenth century. Their graves are in New Haven green, back of old Center church. MARTIN ANDREWS.

4 CARS PILE UP ON SHERIDAN ROAD; TWO HURT

Traffic Blocked for Four Miles by Crash.

Byford F. Heskett, an interne in the Wesley Memorial hospital, was held by the Rogers Park police last night, when his automobile, southbound in the 6400 block of Sheridan road, swung into the northbound traffic lane and caused three other cars to collide.

The four autos piled up in a heap, blocking traffic for two miles in either direction.

Heskett, driving alone, first hit the northbound car of T. W. Roe, 2028 Touhy avenue. It careened over against the car of Frank Walsh of the Bryn Mawr Country club, Morton Grove, and Walsh's in turn crashed into that of Hack Miller, a photographer. Miller and his wife, Florence, were parked at the time in front of 6451 Sheridan road.

Two Seriously Injured.

The Millers were buried in the wreckage. When extricated Miller was unconscious and suffering from internal injuries, among them a punctured lung. Mrs. Miller was likewise seriously hurt. They were taken to the Rogers Park hospital, where their condition late last night was pronounced critical.

Heskett had not been drinking, the police said. His sister, who lives at the South Shore Country club, 7000 South Shore drive, said he had driven for 17 years and never had an accident. The Rogers Park police held him on an open charge, pending the outcome of the Millers' injuries. None of the others involved in the crash were hurt other than cuts and bruises.

Joseph Grocke, 42 years old, 2333 Armitage avenue, was struck and killed by a hit and run motorist last night at Armitage avenue and Point street. Through the license number of the car, taken by a witness, the police traced its ownership to Michael Poturalski, 24 years old, 2547 Diversey boulevard. Poturalski declared that his car had been stolen last night, but the police held him for the inquest.

Grocke's death increased the Cook county motor toll to 431 since Jan. 1.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

Peter Smaszcz, 36 years old, 606 South Francisco avenue, was convicted yesterday by a jury in Judge Martin Isaac's Criminal court on a charge of manslaughter. He faces a sentence of one year to life in prison as the result of an automobile accident seven months ago when he ran down three women at 86th street and Stony Island avenue, fatally injuring two of them.

Those killed were Mrs. Nora Moriarity, 1527 East 86th place, wife of Patrick Moriarity, a fire battalion chief, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie O'Donnell. Miss Mary Healy, 9150 Harper avenue, was injured. Smaszcz sped away after the accident, but was traced by his license number. Policemen, who arrested him at his home later, testified he was intoxicated. Mrs. Moriarity's hat was found wedged in the hood of his machine. Assistant State's Attorney Andrew Gatenby prosecuted.

Salesman Must Serve Term.

G. Fred Norgar, 36 years old, a Chicago bond salesman, yesterday lost his fight to avoid serving a one to ten year sentence in Indiana state prison for manslaughter, incurred when his automobile killed seventeen year old Isabelle Wentzell at Mishawaka last April. Judge Cyrus Pattee in Circuit court at South Bend ruled Norgar must serve his sentence inasmuch as his attorneys had failed to appeal. He is at liberty on $7,500 bond.

KING OF DENMARK LANDS IN ICELAND; THRONGS CHEER

Guns Boom as Cruiser Steams Into Port.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 25.—(AP)—The last hammer stroke had hardly fallen this afternoon on the big arch to welcome Christian, king of the Danes and Icelanders, to the Icelandic parliament anniversary, when the thunder of booming guns announced the landing of his majesty from the cruiser Niels Juel.

The king was greeted by cheers from the populace and the throngs of foreign visitors.

After a brief ceremony near the waterside, the king proceeded with the queen, Prince Knud, and his entourage to the Danish legation.

Immediately after King Christian had landed, Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden disembarked from a Swedish cruiser.

Following him came the Norwegian minister of defense from a Norwegian cruiser.

King Christian was greatly pleased at meeting Icelanders from the United States and Canada. He told Judge Guimundur Grisson of Rugby, N. D., and other prominent American Icelanders that he valued their visit greatly and deplored the impossibility of greeting many thousands of Icelanders who have been unable to return for the festival.

WILLIAM BARNES OF NEW YORK POLITICAL PROMINENCE IS DEAD

New York, June 25.—(AP)—William Barnes, former Republican leader of the state, died at his home in Armonk today after a week's illness of pneumonia. He was 64 years old.

He published the Albany Evening Journal for a number of years and was a member of the Republican State committee from 1892 to 1914, and its chairman from 1911 to 1914. From 1912 to 1916 he was a member of the Republican National committee. He was referred to by his political opponents as "Boss" Barnes.

During the campaign of 1912 former President Theodore Roosevelt, presidential nominee of the Progressive party, in a political speech referred to Mr. Barnes as a "corrupt leader." Barnes retaliated by suing Col. Roosevelt for libel, unsuccessfully.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Barnes, while maintaining a voting residence in Albany, moved to New York. His power began to wane and in 1921 it was broken when, after 22 years of uninterrupted control the Republican administration in Albany was overturned by the Democrats, who have since continued in power.

BOLIVIA TROOPS TRY TO START REVOLT; FAIL

LA PAZ, Bolivia, June 25.—(AP)—An official communique issued tonight by the council of ministers said a regiment of troops in the town of Oruro attempted to start a revolution this morning. The communique said the attempt failed and that the soldiers now are confined to quarters.

The communique added that the Camacho regiment of troops had taken over the city and that for a time it was cut off from the rest of the country.

The council of ministers declared it had first conferred with Gen. Kundt, commander in chief of the army, before taking action. The ministers added the movement was purely local.

BILL FOR NEW CHICAGO JUDGES MEETS DELAY

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—After two sharp clashes in the house, the last one ending with sudden adjournment, the Deneen senate bill to provide two new federal court judges at Chicago late today was still awaiting final action on the house consent calendar.

The bill has passed the senate unanimously and received the approval of the house judiciary committee, but when it was called up today in the house trouble started immediately.

Representative John T. Buckbee [Rep., Ill.] sought to amend by increasing the number of additional judges from two to three, while Representative Carl G. Bachmann [Rep., W. Va.] urged its adoption unchanged. Representative Adolph J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.] attempted to obtain answers to several questions regarding the bill, but was cut off by demands for "regular order." Sabath thereupon objected to the bill, and as only one objection is required the bill was stricken from its place on the consent calendar.

DOCTOR, 80, ASKS DIVORCE; CALLS HIS WIFE CRUEL

Dr. Charles H. Johnston, 80 years old, a physician of 1552 North Kedzie avenue, yesterday filed suit for divorce against Mrs. Carrie Pierce Johnston. The bill, drawn up by Attorney L. A. Mitchell, charges cruelty. Dr. Johnston also alleges his wife had him arrested on a disorderly conduct charge on Nov. 5, 1928, to prevent him from making a business trip out of the city. He was subsequently discharged by Municipal Judge Padden. The couple were married on March 18, 1925, and separated two months later, although continuing to live within the same house, according to the bill. Mrs. Johnston is 55 years old.

YOU KNOW EVERY INCH OF CHICAGO
(A travel suggestion by our own expert suggester)

YOU probably also know almost every inch of New York. And of Paris. And of London. But how about Budapest? (Now that is a bright thought.)

Sidewalk cafés. Gypsy music. Hungarian color. It's as gay as Paris but the accent is different. Artists love it, and so will you. You remember how the Danube cuts old Buda and newer Pest in two? That means there are five fairy bridges to do pretty things in the moonlight. It's worth the trip to stand on one of them and look over at the lights of the hotel on Margaret Island, like a palace of fireflies floating on the water.

Of course, if you don't want to go to Buda, you don't have to. Europe is full of gorgeous places and the letter in the alphabet which leads to them all is "C". Because "C" stands for the Continent and for Comfort and for the Cunard Line. The Continent does its best to live up to the crossing in the AQUITANIA, BERENGARIA, and MAURETANIA.

But these five or six days in a big luxury-insistent ship still remain the high spot in the whole glamorous memory of any Atlantic trip.

The staterooms are so large and handsome. The lounges are so rich, yet so friendly. The menus are as intimate or as grand as you like. The gymnasiums are so practical. The stewards and stewardesses are so unbelievably well trained. In those five or six days you can do everything or nothing.

THOROLD SPEED TO BE TESTED ON RETURN TRIP

Savings in Lake Shipping Explained.

With flags flying, THE TRIBUNE'S motor vessel Thorold, the first oil burning Diesel engined ship of its type to ply the great lakes, strained at its moorings last night as the crew prepared to batten down the hatches for the return trip to Thorold, Ontario. Capt. George Ferguson impatiently awaited the completion of the task of unloading 3,362 rolls (or 2,290 tons) of its first cargo of newsprint, as he hopes to clip nine hours from its running time of 100 hours for the voyage of about 900 miles.

For more than twenty hours unloading crews dug in the hold of the vessel to disgorge the cargo of paper. The first of the rolls had been transformed into TRIBUNES as workers continued their task of unloading under a battery of floodlights. Trucks carried the rolls from the dock at 309 East North Water street to THE TRIBUNE for the presses. The cargo will be exhausted in a week.

Anxious to Test Ship.

Capt. Ferguson scanned the lake anxiously as he stood on the edge of the hatches. Far down below men were delivering the rolls to the cranes. The bright glare of the lights and the depth of the hold gave the impression of a stone quarry. The Thorold will return without a cargo.

"I hope to get out while the weather holds up," Capt. Ferguson said. "With a blunt nosed craft like this favorable winds add miles to her speed. The old girl will cut down her passage here by hours if she gets a break. We're all anxious to see what she can do."

As the crew awaited the order, "Let's go!" E. M. Antrim, assistant business manager for THE TRIBUNE, discussed the advantages of shipping newsprint by water. The season on the lakes extends from May 1 to Nov. 1, but by docking the ships of the fleet loaded at the end of the season another month is added.

Points to Savings.

"In the eight months 86,400 tons of paper can be shipped," Mr. Antrim explained. "At the rate of $4.50 a ton by freight this would cost $388,800, as against $172,800 for shipping by boat at $2 a ton. Terminal costs by boat add $86,000 to the shipping cost, so that the net savings is $130,000. In addition the boat at the tonnage price makes sufficient profit to cover interest, depreciation, and operating expenses.

"Harold G. Moulton of the institute of economics of the Brookings foundation in his work, 'The St. Lawrence Navigation and Power Project,' declares, 'We can, then, see little or no possibility of shipping newsprint by boat in the summer and by rail in the winter. Everything points to a continued and complete reliance on rail service.' This statement is disproved by the facts.

"There will be shipped to Chicago 100,000 tons of newsprint in 1930 which is twice as much as in 1929. Shipment by boats such as the Thorold is a sound business proposition."

SEVILLE STRIKE FADES; BUSINESS SLOWLY REOPENS

SEVILLE, June 25.—(AP)—The general strike movement today seemed to have reached its zenith and begun to crumble. Many workmen who yesterday took part in fatal disorders that engaged the police until nightfall today returned to their tasks.

Police and civil guards today dispersed several gatherings in the streets but without resistance. Surface traffic resumed its normal state, tram cars were in operation, each heavily guarded. Private automobiles began to appear.

The governor announced that every taxicab failing to resume operation today would be fined 100 pesetas a day until it did resume. Business life was returning to normal.

AGRICULTURE IS BENEFITED MOST BY NEW TARIFF

Farm Leader Makes Detailed Analysis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—Agriculture benefited considerably more from the new tariff law than industry, according to a detailed analysis issued today by Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the Farm Bureau federation.

Duties on raw agricultural products have been increased on an average by 51.6 per cent over the rates of the 1922 law, tabulations made by Mr. Gray indicate. The industrial rate increases have averaged 14.6 per cent, the agricultural increases being more than three times as much as industrial increases.

It is shown that the average duty on raw agricultural products in the new law is 33.94 per cent, compared with 22.37 per cent in the old law, an advance of 11.57 points, or 51.6 per cent. Industrial rates average 42.83 per cent in the new law, as compared with 37.35 per cent in the old law, an advance of 5.48 points, or 14.6 per cent.

"It is interesting to see how much of the spread or difference of protection between industrial and agricultural products has been eliminated in the act of 1930 compared to the act of 1922," says Mr. Gray in his report. "One might conclude, superficially, with the per cent of increase over the 1922 base on farm rates going up about three and one-half times faster than on industrial ones, that the elimination of the spread of protection would be automatic. But the low level of agricultural rates and the comparatively high level of industrial rates at the start make it difficult for farm rates to catch up with industrial ones.

"The rate on industrial products in the act of 1922 exceeded the rate on agricultural products by 14.98 points. In the act of 1930 industrial products exceeded agricultural products in their rates of duty to the extent of 8.89 points. In other words the excess of the 1922 spread over the 1930 spread was 6.09 points. This is 40.6 per cent elimination of the spread which existed between agricultural and industrial products in 1922."

HOOVER'S "FARM RELIEF" DRAWS SENATE SARCASM

Connally and Thomas Its Critics.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—Slumps in the prices of wheat and cotton during the last few days brought forth two caustic attacks on the Hoover administration's farm relief policy in the senate today. The critics were Senators Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.] and Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.]

"Wheat dropped to 88 cents a bushel today on the Chicago market, which means that the farmers in Oklahoma must be selling their new crop at about 60 cents," Senator Connally declared. "I have talked to members of the farm board and they seem to be doing all they can to help the situation, but they can neither wave away the surplus nor compel European countries to buy it.

"Congress is about to adjourn. At the close of a session dedicated to helping the farmer we are quitting when he is in worse shape than ever. Every day we remained in session his plight has grown worse. All he has is bunkum, hocus-pocus about cooperative marketing, a skin ointment which does not touch the real disease."

Senator Connally asserted that eventually congress would be called on to approve the debenture or a similar plan to permanently help agriculture.

After a bitter attack on the tariff bill, which he predicted would ruin the market abroad for wheat and cotton as well as manufactured products, Senator Thomas presented a resolution calling upon the President to call an international conference to study a plan of coöperation between agricultural nations for crop surveys and a reduction of the acreage of surplus crops. The effort of the farm board to cut production in this country alone is a "futile gesture," Senator Thomas said.

Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board today visited the capitol.

This season YOU CERTAINLY CAN AFFORD GOODYEARS

THERE never has been a time when the tire-buyer's money could buy as much as right now.

Rubber's cheap—and consequently tire prices are the lowest they've ever been.

People with an eye to values are seizing this chance and making the most of it.

They're buying Goodyear Tires—because right now they can buy them for as little as they used to pay for inferior or unknown tires.

Why are they singling out Goodyear Tires with especial insistence as against all others?

Because Goodyear Tires are definitely superior in tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

Now is the time to get YOURS

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction.

The Goodyear Supertwist Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

You are not asked to accept these statements without inquiry.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

The facts certainly are: Goodyear Tires do give greater value.

As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

More Goodyear Tires than any other kind annually leave motor car factories on new cars—more Goodyear Tires go into service through the great Goodyear dealer organization—more Goodyear Tires are used by transcontinental, urban and interurban buses.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better—and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

Now is the time to get yours.

THEY'LL GATHER AT THE RIVER FOR BIG RACE TODAY

Nine Crews Compete in Hudson Regatta.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 25.—(AP)—On the eve of the thirty-third annual battle of oars on the Hudson, the word that was passed along from camp to camp on both banks of the river tonight was a warning to "watch Washington."

First under Ed Leader, then under Rusty Callow and now under young Al Ulbreckson, the tall Redwoods of the northwest have rolled up a record of finishing either first or second every year except one since 1922, and they have come east this season with a varsity crew that has yet to taste defeat.

Probably never in the long history of this Intercollegiate Rowing association regatta, which goes back to 1895, has a crew appeared on the Hudson built on such gargantuan lines as this Washington varsity. The crew contains one man who is 6 feet 5 inches tall, another who is 6 feet 4, and none who is less than 6 feet 1½. The average height is 6 feet 3 and the average weight is 179.

Huskies Fear Navy.

The Washington oarsmen appear to feel that their principal opposition will come from their old rivals from the naval academy, who have a perfectly balanced eight, combining rugged power with smoothness. There is little concern in the Washington camp over California, but the Golden Bears, with a crew that is brawny if none too smooth, believe they can beat the husky eight that trimmed them by a fifth of a second when they raced for Pacific coast supremacy more than two months ago.

Of the other five contestants, Cornell, Syracuse, and Pennsylvania have not won here in a varsity event since the world war, and Wisconsin and Massachusetts Tech have yet to finish first.

Hope for Clean Sweep.

Washington, unbeaten in junior varsity and freshman classes as well, is among the favorites in all three events and cherishes some hopes of achieving a clean sweep.

Forecasts tonight were for fair weather and all hands were hoping for smooth water.

The eight-oared substitute crew of Washington defeated four rivals in a mile and a half race that concluded the program of preliminary events today. Syracuse was second, a quarter of a length behind, after leading to within 100 yards of the finish. Pennsylvania finished third, with the combined crews of Cornell and Wisconsin fourth and Columbia last.

A. A. MOGULS TO DEBATE SPLIT SEASON, JULY 1

A meeting of American Association baseball magnates to consider advisability of a split season was called for July 1 by President Thomas J. Hickey yesterday. The meeting will be held at the Stevens hotel.

President Hickey said the proposition of dividing the Association season had been suggested to him as having operated successfully in the Pacific Coast, Texas, and Southern leagues, each of which awards a pennant to the mid-season leader.

Perlick Twins Lose Bouts on Same New York Card

New York, June 25.—(AP)—The Perlick twins, Kalamazoo, Mich., lost their fights at Ebbetts Field tonight. Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle Negro, winning a ten round decision from Herman in the feature bout and Ralph Lenny of Union City, N. J., getting the verdict over Henry in a ten round preliminary.

RAISING A HULLABALOO AT BOB O' LINK

At the left, J. C. Reynolds encounters a double stymie on the eighteenth green of the Bob o' Link course, where golfers from all corners of Chicago wound up their two day annual Hullabaloo last night. Reynolds is attempting a jump shot over the balls of E. M. Adams and R. H. Ritchie, who are standing at the left. The fourth member of the foursome is Bert L. White. On the right, Thomas J. Condon takes up a rake as his only hope of getting out of the sand trap, while Joseph Cremin looks on. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Couch Victor in Hullabaloo; Blossom Is 2d

BY HOWARD BARRY.

As the last echoes of Bob o' Link's ninth annual Hullabaloo were dying away yesterday, Ira L. Couch of Glen View rolled a three foot putt into the 18th hole and walked off the green with a score of 74—73—147 to win low gross at the end of the two day tournament.

He had finished the first day's play tied at 74 with Burton Mudge of Knollwood, and at the end of yesterday's first nine Mudge was leading by one shot. But the Knollwood golfer left his chances buried in a trap on the tenth hole, which he required 10 strokes to negotiate. He wound up with a 79 for a 36 hole score of 153.

Meanwhile, Frank Blossom of Shore Acres was moving along steadily and slipped into second place with 76 for a total of 152.

McKay Wins Low Net.

Low net was won by A. J. McKay of Bob o' Link, 195—60—135, while H. B. Hurd of the same club was second with 142.

Couch started erratically and was over par on the first four holes. He three putted the first, pitched over the green on the second, and laid his approach in a trap on the third. On the fourth he was trapped and then three putted to go five strokes over par at this point.

Here he rallied and made three consecutive birdies. On the fifth he pitched to within four feet of the pin and sank his first putt; on the next he chipped out of a trap and holed a four footer, and on the 360 yard 7th his drive came to rest 40 yards from the green. He laid his approach 10 feet from the cup and holed the putt.

Gets Birdie with Long Putt.

The eighth and ninth were negotiated in par and his 35 foot putt on the tenth found the cup for a birdie four. He followed with another birdie by getting his second shot to the green and going down in two putts.

A trapped tee shot on the short twelfth forced him to take a four, but he made up for it on the next by holing an eight foot putt for a birdie three. He played flawlessly through the next four holes, but took a five on the par four eighteenth when his second shot landed at the edge of the green, his chip rolled twenty feet be-

Athletics Beat Ted Lyons, 8-1, But Sox Get Even, 7-2

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25.—Moe Berg, the Jersey barrister, gave the world champion Athletics the jar of their lives in the second game of this afternoon's doubleheader. With the bases full, two out and two strikes chalked against him, he propelled the ball for a double, which sent home all the base runners. This splendid act was the dominant factor in a 7 to 2 whaling administered to the haughty champions by our White Sox. The victory was a most welcome surprise, the A's having just administered an 8 to 1 whaling to Ted Lyons in the first game.

Principal among Mr. Berg's aides in the victorious endeavor were Pat Caraway, who received credit for his first major league win; Garland Braxton, who did the handsomest job of relief pitching you can imagine, and Red Barnes, who was merciless in his centerfield flychasing.

Braxton Checks A's.

Caraway was relieved in the sixth when he showed signs of nervousness. Braxton ended a Mack rally in this inning when Quinn hit into a double play. He then pitched perfect ball for three innings, not a champ reaching first.

The Sox tomorrow will open a four game series in Boston against the tail enders, who have beaten them five straight. Thomas will pitch against Gaston.

Being such a surprise victory, we'll tell you the details of the second game before we start on the not so pleasing Lyons setback. Hunnefield cracked Walberg's first pitch into the upper deck of the left field pavilion for his first homer of the year.

The champions tied the score in the second. Foxx singled and scored on Miller's double.

Hose Pile Up Lead.

It was in the fourth that the Sox acquired four runs and a 5 to 1 lead. Reynolds singled to deep short and was safe at second when McNair muffed the throw on Jolley's grounder. Cissell fouled to Cochrane, but Clancy singled to center, scoring Reynolds. Jolley and Clancy moved up on a passed ball, and when Kamm walked the bases were full. Berg took two strikes, then shot a double to left center, which scored Jolley, Clancy, and Kamm. Berg drove in Kamm in the sixth with his second double.

The going became too tough for Caraway in the sixth. Simmons led off with his 15th homer. Foxx walked. Miller whizzed a single past Kamm, and Foxx stopped at second. Caraway threw one strike to Dykes, and then Braxton came in and finished the job by fanning Jimmy. McNair walked, filling the bases, but Quinn tapped into a double play.

Barnes Walks and Scores.

The Sox added a run in the seventh. Barnes walked and stole second. After Reynolds and Jolley had flied out, Cissell singled to center, scoring Barnes.

Lyons was nicked for the first two runs in the second inning. Foxx opened with a single, went to third on Miller's single, and scored on Dyke's single. McNair struck out, but Earnshaw sent a sacrifice fly to Barnes, which scored Miller.

The third inning was much more disastrous than the second. It started when Cissell booted Haas' grounder, called a hit by a whimsical scorer. Haas stopped at second when Cochrane slapped a single off Cissell's glove, on what might easily have been a double play. The runners moved up on Simmons' sacrifice fly. Foxx singled to left, scoring Haas and Cochrane. Miller was hit by a pitched ball. Dykes then doubled to left, scoring Foxx and Miller.

Dykes led off the sixth with his second double. McNair bunted, and Lyons, trying to make a play at third, threw to the Macks' bull pen, Dykes scoring and McNair taking second. McNair worked a delayed steal and scored on Earnshaw's sacrifice fly.

The Sox averted a shutout in the eighth. Cissell singled and went to third on Clancy's double. Bud kept on running after reaching second, although Cissell was standing on third. He was out, Miller to Foxx to McNair. Cissell scored on Kamm's sacrifice.

Babe Ruth Eight Days Ahead of His 1927 Record Mark

By hitting two home runs in the second game of the Yankees' double header with the Browns yesterday, Babe Ruth increased his season's string of homers to 26, putting himself eight days and two homers ahead of his record breaking schedule of 1927.

In that year, when he established the existing mark of 60 home runs for one season, Ruth did not hit his 26th circuit drive until July 3. On June 25, 1927, he had only 24, two less than his present total.

The home run leaders follow:

N. D. STAR AMONG EIGHT SURVIVORS IN COLLEGE GOLF

Oakmont, Pa., June 25.—(AP)—Two 18-hole rounds today swept 24 college golfers out of the intercollegiate championship and left a sturdy band of eight to carry on over the longer 36 hole route, beginning with the quarter finals tomorrow.

The competition continued to furnish wide variety with seven institutions represented in the last eight. Only Harvard had two players still in the running. Phil Finlay and Charley Eaton of the Crimson won two matches and the others to hurdle the two rounds were Sam Perry of Alabama; Larry Moller, Notre Dame; Marshall Forrest, runner-up last year, Yale; Winston Fuller, Southern California; George T. Dunlap, Princton, and Sam Parks, Pittsburgh.

The first day's match play produced some exciting golf. The morning's play matched Perry, southern intercollegiate champion, and Dick Martin of Illinois, Big Ten champion, the southerner winning at the home hole.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Tying the score in the ninth yesterday proved just a futile gesture for the Phillies. It merely aroused the Cubs to do some more of what they had been doing all afternoon and they shoved over a run in their final half to make a sweep of the three game series by a mirth provoking score of 13 to 12. Today the Robins will move in and attempt to hold their one game lead over the champions.

Root will tackle the Robins today. Vance may oppose him.

As might be gathered from the score, yesterday's engagement was a combination of bad pitching, fielding of a similar grade, and profuse hitting. Of the latter the Phils collected the bigger share, but they didn't number in their attack a Gabby Hartnett. It was Gabby who twice uncorked homers to melt down big enemy leads. It was Gabby who singled on another occasion for one run, and it was Gabby who hit with a runner waiting on third in the ninth.

Willoughby Fails as Relief.

After the Phils had dusted off Sheriff Blake, the fourth Cub hurler, for two tying runs in the ninth, Claude Willoughby was dragged forth to carry the struggle along until the Phils could perpetrate more run getting. Willoughby, however, had no luck. Stephenson, the first man to face him, survived when Thevenow muffed his popup. Then Grimm pushed a bunt safely through the infield, a wild pitch let the two runners advance, and Hartnett promptly broke up the party by singling through short.

Hartnett's exploits began in the fourth round. He cut loose with his first circuit smash with a mate on, thus putting the Cubs in front after the Phils had thumped Bob Osborn for three runs in the first inning. Gabby returned in the sixth with his second homer with two on and then singled and scored again in the seventh.

Error Starts Phillies.

An error by Blair gave the Phils the chance to pick up three runs in the opening inning. The day's affair opened with Southern walking but he was nipped trying to steal. Sherlock also walked and O'Doul bounced to Blair for what should have been a double killing but both men were lost when Blair's peg pulled Beck off second base. Sherlock scored on Klein's single to right. Whitney then whacked a two base line drive into left center, O'Doul and Klein hustling to the plate.

The Cubs didn't get serious with Benge until the third. Blair singled with two out and English duplicated the hit. Cuyler drove them around to the plate with a double. That put the Cubs one shy of a tie but not for long. Grimm singled in the fourth and scored on Hartnett's homer.

Nelson, who had relieved Osborn, immediately showed he couldn't stand prosperity. The Phils went back into the lead with four in the fifth. Klein, Whitney, and Thevenow singled for one run and Davis added three more on a homer to left. Shealy had to hurry in to close the inning. Another Phil scored in the sixth, making 8 to 4 advantage for the enemy.

Hack Starts Rally.

Wilson's single was the first intimation that the Cubs intended to run amuck in the home sixth. Stephenson followed with a pass and Grimm rammed a hit through short, Hack running home. Hartnett then exploded his second homer. This tied the score at 8, and Benge retired in favor of Nichols.

After Beck popped out Shealy singled and was safe at second when Thevenow muffed a throw from Thompson on Blair's grounder. Then English flied out and Cuyler clouted his homer into the left field seats.

Part of the champions' lead vanished along with Shealy in the seventh when the Phils scored two. That left the Cubs in front by only one run. They increased their margin by one in the home half, and it was these two runs the Phils wiped out in the ninth.

MARCUM RIDES CANAAN TO WIN IN BLACKSTONE

Amelia May Pays $138.26 for $2.

BY FRENCH LANE.

They let old Canaan into the Blackstone Hotel handicap at Washington Park yesterday with a feather on his back and Trainer Mose Lowenstein put the good jockey J. Marcum in the saddle.

It was an unbeatable combination. After Double Heart had made a terrific pace for seven furlongs Canaan came along in the stretch to whip him so badly that he dropped entirely out of the money. Jock, the even money favorite, was second, beaten a length by Canaan. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stars and Bars rallied in the stretch to take third money. Chicago trailed in fourth place, while Double Heart and McGonigle brought up the rear guard.

Canaan, a stable mate of Misstep, was making his seventh start of the season and it was the first victory he has scored. But he has been improving and the handicappers have been taking weight off his back as one defeat followed another. He carried 101 yesterday and that's old Canaan's leather. Down around 100 pounds with a good live jockey in the saddle he is liable to beat any man's horse.

Runs Third Into Stretch.

He was never behind the leaders many lengths and ran third until the field rounded the last turn and headed into the stretch. Jock had been running second back of Double Heart. It was just a romp for Canaan from there on home. As Marcum moved him up Jock went with him. They soon were flying past Double Heart. Then Canaan outstrided the once mighty Jock and in a few strides had sailed into a lead which was never threatened.

Canaan ran the mile and 70 yards in 1:41 3-5, which was within fractions of a second of the track record. It was Jockey Marcum's second victory of the day, as he had previously turned in a brilliant effort on Gracious Gift in the third race to beat some of the best sprinters here. In the mutuels Canaan paid $8.28 to win, $2.80 to place and $2.32 to show. Jock was at $2.68 to place and $2.24 to show. Stars and Bars paid $2.62 to show.

It was the saddest afternoon of the Washington Park season for the players of favorites. During the series of upsets two long shots went over. They were Kamilla, a daughter of Light Brigade-Spicy Belle from the Camden stable and Amelia May owned by Mike Syufy from the far west.

Kamila Wins by Two Lengths.

Kamila was tossed in with 11 other maiden 2-year-olds and after Jockey Shropshire set her down in the stretch it was not even a close contest. She galloped on to win by four lengths from Brown Hills, with Modern Maiden third. The latter might have been best, but was weakly ridden by Jockey E. Ambrose.

Amelia May was the real long shot of the day. She led a cheap field of platers most of the way in a mile and a furlong combat and the mutuel price was $135.26 to win, $63.64 to place, and $25.18 to show. Elizabeth, which was second, also was a long shot, paying $19.80 to place. Nursie, the favorite, had a rough journey but saved third money. There was also a plunge on Laughing Laura.

Today's Gallant Fox, Sande Arrive Here Monday

Gallant Fox, winner of the Woods Memorial handicap, the Preakness stakes, Kentucky Derby and Belmont stakes, will arrive at Arlington Park Monday morning to continue his campaign for the 3 year old championship.

Orders were received late yesterday by Track Superintendent Billy Meyers to have the bedding down by Monday morning for the famous three year old. Jockey Earl Sande is coming west with Gallant Fox. Their engagements here are in the Classic, which will gross about $85,000, to be run on July 12, and the Arlington Cup, which will be decided a week later.

A dozen other horses will accompany Gallant Fox here. The shipment will include Flying Gal, a candidate for the Arlington Oaks, and Frisius, a 4 year old half brother to Flying Gal, which is coming on to compete for the Arlington Park handicaps. The Wheatley stable also will send several head in the same shipment.

The hegira from Washington Park to Arlington got under way in earnest yesterday. More than 100 horses of various ages were vanned over between daylight and dusk. Among these were all or parts of the Audley Farm stable, J. J. Coughlin, C. B. Shaffer, and Dearborn stables, George Wingfield, John T. Looney, Jesse Spencer R. J. and P. A. Nash stables.

Among the well engaged Audley farm horses arriving were Bobashela, Woodcraft, Flyer and Top Kick, all of which, barring Woodcraft, are in the $10,000 Inaugural handicap, a dash of seven furlongs for 3 year olds and over, that will be the feature of Monday's opening day card. Bobashela's burden will be 112 pounds. Flyer's, 98; Top Kick's, 93. Miller Henderson has these in charge. The Audley farm's Classic prospect, Gallant Knight, winner of the Fairmount Derby, and contender in the Kentucky and American Derbies, will come up from Latonia early next week.

Green Bay Flies Provide Banquet for Fish at Sunset

Big Lake, Near Three Lakes, Wis., June 25.—What a feast the finny tribe have been enjoying up here for the last few days! Nature has set a table the like of which we have never seen on a northern lake because millions of Green Bay flies are hatching out at sun down they rise on fluttering wings for a brief, happy flight, only to drop to the surface of the water to provide a banquet for the pan fish, bass, wall-eyed pike and other fish.

Big Lake, Near Three Lakes, Wis., June 25.—What a feast the finny tribe has been enjoying up here for the last few days! Nature has set a table of which we have never read—a northern lake because millions of green Bay flies are hatching out and when sun down they rise on flutter[illegible] for a brief, happy flight and then drop to the surface of the water to provide a banquet for the perch, wall-eyed pike and other fishes. Last night Harry Kellar trucked over to Virgin lake where we literally sat down right in the middle of the gastronomic banquet board where the fish were feasting. With Harry at the oars and Jim Prindle in the center, the three of us displayed a variety assortment of fish fooling for the delicacies of the muskies and bass. About the time a gorgeous purple and gold sunset was showing through the white pines on the island in Virgin lake, the evening flight of the green tail flies started. So heavy was the flight and so many flies were hovering on top of the water that the attack of their wings and the splashes to rise again sounded like a heavy rain falling on dry leaves. During this deluge of large insects and mosquitoes a fellow needed more than two hands to keep casting and the flies out of the way.

TILDEN REGAINS HIS OLD WIZARDRY TO BEAT VAN RYN

Berkeley Bell Extends Cochet to 5 Sets.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
WIMBLEDON, England, June 25.—Bill Tilden's old wizardry was working at Wimbledon this afternoon and he won the hardest match he has had in the men's singles championship play when John Van Ryn of the American Davis cup team, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1. Ten thousand tennis fans, the biggest crowd since the tournament started, watched the match.

At the same time the stands of number one court were packed while Count Cochet, the French holder of the English title, met the stiffest opposition he has had in Berkeley Bell, the United States intercollegiate champion. The Frenchman won the match after it had gone to five sets by a score of 6-2, 6-2, 5-7, 4-6, 6-1.

Italian Champion Beaten.

Johnny Doeg, the seeded Californian, played five games with C. Boussus of France before he finally won the match by 5-7, 6-1, 12-14, 6-0, 6-2. There was another late thriller in the upset of the seeded Italian champion, Baron de L. Demorpurgo, by the young Briton F. J. Perry, 10-8, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. But Tilden's victory was the outstanding match of the day. No tennis had been played during the three days of the tournament like that produced by the crafty Tilden.

Helen Wins Easily.

Helen Wills Moody, holder of the woman's singles title, defeated Miss Peggy Goldsworth, 6-1, 6-2. Helen Jacobs had just as easy a time winning from Mrs. A. H. Mellows by the same score.

Four other Americans pulled out winners today at the conclusion of the third round of men's singles, and the second of the women's. Wilmer Allison of Texas beat G. L. Rogers of England, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2. G. S. Mangin defeated the Japanese player, R. Miki, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. George Lott vanquished the Australian, H. J. Hopman, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3. Elizabeth Ryan was victor over Miss Victoria Montgomery, 6-2, 6-4.

JENNINGS BEATS QUINN

George Jennings, defending champion, beat Eugene Quinn, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, in the fourth round of the Illinois state tennis championships at the Town and Tennis club yesterday. Eddie Lejeck eliminated his second seeded rival when he swept through Jack Harris, seeded No. 9, 6-2, 6-2. Leo Lejeck lost to Fred Royer, Missouri state champion, 6-4, 3-6, 8-6. Catherine Wolf, Indianapolis, beat Sylvia Kopinski, 6-0, 6-2.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

RING FOULS.

TERMINATION of ring bouts by the foul route has reached a stage where it demands corrective action from boxing commissions and those intrusted with the welfare of the fistic sport. In the heavyweight field, particularly, it is about 50-50 whether a contest will be decided on its merits or by a foul.

The Wake makes this statement not primarily for the protection of the public, because the public long since has grown accustomed to wondering whether or not it will get its money's worth. Whether it does or not, it goes back for more. Protection of the public is the impelling motive for boxing commissions. That protection, however, is involved in any move for ring betterment. Let us remark in passing that fouls are not common, hardly occasional, under the present Illinois commission. Reading its rules will show one reason.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and New York News hold Golden Gloves amateur tourneys each winter, culminating in intercity bouts. While not here for the preliminaries, we do not recall a single bout being decided on a foul. Now these boys are inexperienced boxers compared with the professionals committing the fouls by which so many important fights have ended recently.

Now if amateurs do not commit fouls, why should experienced, ringwise veterans? We do not think all such fouls are intentional. But if penalties were more severe, certainly there would be more care shown in boxing tactics. The present situation has become intolerable.

Happy Days.

I sometimes think that heaven is
In truth a state of mind;
So much of heaven every day
Around my home I find.

The baby carriage standing
In the shady little yard,
Petunias blooming near the walk,
Neat rows of beets and chard.
The bumblebees among the flowers
Sampling one by one,
And on the line my baby's clothes
Aflutter in the sun.

"I mean the biggest dam on earth," replied the minister.

G. Fetz Takes Medal Honors in State Golf

Gus Fetz, winner of THE TRIBUNE'S public park meet, yesterday led a field of 32 golfers in the qualifying round of the Illinois state amateur championship over the 70 par Riis park course. Fetz shot 35—37—72, to finish one stroke ahead of Warren Dawson, Green Valley star.

Fetz went one over par at the second hole going out, but scored a birdie 3 at the sixth to even the count. He went out in 35. Coming in he went one over par at the eleventh and fourteenth for 37.

Warren Dawson shot eight 4s and a 3 to go out in perfect figures. At the tenth he had a birdie 3, but spoiled the eleventh on the green, taking 6. From there in he was one over par for 38.

Today's pairings bring together a pair of champions. Eldridge Robinson, Olympia Fields, present title holder, is matched against Henry Foley, 1928 champion.

CHICAGO STOCK RALLY FAILS TO WIPE OUT LOSSES

Leaders Show Resistance to Sales Pressure.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Prices were pushed down early and in the late trading were jacked up again on the Chicago Stock Exchange yesterday. But the jacking up was not thorough enough to counteract completely the earlier weakness and as a consequence stocks in many instances were selling moderately below Tuesday's final quotations when the gong halted trading.

Though one or two of the active leaders did finish the day higher, the losses small as they were, outnumbered the gains which were correspondingly meager in size. It was the active favorites which kept abreast of the changing tide in New York.

Ticker Shows Resistance.

Other less active shares were left to finish the day with losses while traders rallied around the Middle West Utilities and Grigsby Grunow posts when the ticker told the story of increasing resistance in the pivotals against the bear charges on the New York exchange.

The gong found Grigsby selling at 15⅝, a bare fraction above its previous close and about a point above its lowest price of the day. The action of Middle West in its range was almost identical with that of Grigsby. After selling down to 26¼, it closed at 27¼, up slightly for the day.

Transactions for the day were moderate, some 250,000 odd shares changing hands. Majestic, which finished off 2¼, covered more ground than any of the medium and low priced stocks.

Governors at their regular weekly meeting yesterday approved several new listings. Among others approval was given to list 225,000 shares of non-par value common stock of the Chris-Craft corporation, one of the largest producers of standard motor boats in the world. The company was organized this year to take over the business of Chris Smith & Sons Boat company.

Retain Management.

The management of the new company will remain in the hands of the Smith family. Chris Smith, who is chairman of the board of the company, founded the business several years ago. The management rests largely now in the hands of his sons. Childs Jefferies & Co. are offering 75,000 shares of the common stock at $23 a share. After giving effect to the present financing, total assets as of May 31 amounted to $1,630,575.

Other listings which were approved by the governors were: Continental Roll and Steel Foundry company 6% first mortgage convertible sinking fund bonds, $10,000,000 principal amount; Indiana Southwestern Gas and Utilities corporation 6% convertible ten year secured notes, $2,500,000 principal amount; Lawbeck corporation 6% cumulative preferred stock, $100 par value, 100,000 shares; Southern Union Gas company, common stock, no par value, 500,000 shares.

CHICAGO BOARD of TRADE STOCKS

Electric Bond and Share attracted the most attention yesterday with a break of 1¼ to 70¾, the lowest point of the year, with a rally of 4½ points to 75¼, net gain of 3½ points. Sales were 7,800 shares out of a total 9,750.

Hearst Bond Load Brings Sale of Stock

Plans of William Randolph Hearst looking to a large scale refinancing of many of his newspaper and magazine properties through the sale to employés and the public of $50,000,000 of stock in a new holding company aroused considerable interest in Chicago financial circles. It was said to be the largest stock financing ever undertaken by an American newspaper.

Heretofore Mr. Hearst has financed his properties by bond issues on his various publications and several holding concerns, which have been offered through bond dealers and syndicates. These issues now outstanding in public hands aggregate more than $60,000,000, including obligations of a Hearst-Brisbane real estate company.

Now, however, it is Mr. Hearst's intention, according to the understanding of La Salle street bankers, to relieve the load of the bonds by refinancing a considerable part of these obligations through sale of preferred stock in a new holding concern known as Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc. This preferred stock is to be offered to employés and the public, according to a preliminary announcement made by Mr. Hearst's business managers to employés of his various enterprises.

Cuts Personal Liability.

Most of the bond issues on various Hearst properties mature within the next few years and carry serial payments and sinking fund payments that aggregate several million dollars in addition to interest charges. Most of the issues also are guaranteed personally by Mr. Hearst as to payment of principal and interest. Refinancing these issues either by calling them for payment in the near future or by meeting them at maturity with the proceeds from the sale of stock would relieve the properties of sinking fund and serial payments, according to Chicago investment bankers, and also would relieve Mr. Hearst of a considerable personal liability.

The sinking fund and serial payment provisions on the various bond issues of Hearst enterprises now in public hands aggregated between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 per year, and, in addition, total interest charges are between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000. These heavy fixed charges against earnings would be removed with a retirement of the bonds through the sale of stock.

Largest Obligation.

The largest bond issue outstanding on the various Hearst properties is one of $18,750,000 first mortgage and collateral 6¼ per cent bonds of Hearst Publications, Inc. These bonds carry a schedule of serial payments, with $750,000 due this year, $1,000,000 due each year from 1931 to 1946, and $2,000,000 due in 1947. The company owns the capital stocks of most of the Hearst newspapers on the Pacific coast.

The next largest issue is $9,150,000 6¼ per cent bonds of the New York Evening Journal. These bonds mature in the amount of $1,000,000 each year from 1930 to 1936 and $2,150,000 in 1937.

Hearst Magazines, Inc., which owns the stocks of a number of magazines, has $8,000,000 6 per cent debentures outstanding. These fall due in the amount of $1,000,000 each year.

The Evening American Publishing company, which publishes the Chicago Evening American, has $7,500,000 sinking fund debenture 6 per cent bonds outstanding, which are due in the amount of $750,000 a year. The Illinois Publishing and Printing company, which publishes the Chicago Herald and Examiner, owes $5,000,000 of 6½ per cent debentures, of which $100,000 is payable in 1931, $200,000 each in 1932 and 1933 and $4,500,000 in 1950.

Additional Bonded Debt.

The Times Publishing company, which publishes the Detroit Times, has $2,500,000 serial 6 per cent debentures, with maturities of $125,000 each year from 1936 to 1940, then $225,000 each year from 1941 to 1942 and $550,000 in 1943. The Bee-News Publishing company, which publishes the Omaha Bee-News, has $2,500,000 6 per cent debentures, which mature in the amount of $100,000 in 1931 and thereafter $200,000 each year from 1932 to 1943.

In addition, the Hearst-Brisbane Properties, a holding concern for real estate in New York, have $6,825,000 first mortgage fee and leasehold 6 per cent bonds, due serially each year until 1942 in amounts ranging up to $313,000.

BATTLE LINES DRAWN IN STEEL MERGER FIGHT

Unfair Plot Charge Is Denied.

Youngstown, O., June 25.—(AP)—Captains of steel fighting over the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel corporation merger laid their battle lines anew in Common Pleas court here today.

Resumption of the fight that shifted from one of the nation's most spectacular proxy wars into the courts was at hand with the scheduled opening of the hearing of the suit brought by the Continental Shares corporation of Cleveland and Myron C. Wick Jr. of Youngstown, seeking to block the merger.

Financial observers believed the outcome of the suit not only will determine whether Bethlehem will become a billion dollar corporation but affect the future efforts of middle western capitalists to lessen the influance of Wall street outside of the east.

Dominates Opposition.

Although his name was not among the plaintiffs, the figure of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland capitalist who has amassed millions in public utilities, steel, and rubber, dominated the opposition to the merger. Continental Shares and Wick, holders of considerable Sheet and Tube stock, are associated with interests of Eaton, himself the largest individual stockholder.

Plot of the Bethlehem Steel corporation to consume the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company on unfair terms was charged and denied today in the opening of the suit for permanent injunction to prevent merger of the two concerns.

Attorney Luther S. Day of Cleveland, heading the legal talent representing stockholders opposed to the merger, charged the "management" of the Youngstown company with 'intentional fraud, intentional concealment, and intentional dereliction of duty."

Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, former secretary of war and chief defense counsel in the suit, derided Day's charges and declared it "a miracle that a man like Day would charge fraud against men like H. G. Dalton and James A. Campbell." The latter are directors of the Youngstown corporation. Campbell is chairman of the board.

Answers Day's Charge.

Answering Day's charge that Bethlehem corporation sought to take unfair advantage of Youngstown stockholders, Baker said:

"Youngstown was not able to ally itself with United States Steel, perhaps because it was not advantageous

Cites Effect on Business of Installment Selling

BY SCRUTATOR.

Viewers with alarm still regard the selling of consumer goods on installments as a menace to the stability of business. They are not so numerous, however, as they were in the depression that followed the first post-war boom, and it is easier to show that the evil effects of time payments on general business are negligible, if indeed they exist at all.

It is sometimes assumed that there is a huge mass of frozen credits in the form of unpaid installments. The best estimates show that about six billion dollars of installment paper was created in 1929, and that about $2,900,000,000 of this was the total outstanding at the beginning of 1930. This would be equivalent to about 5 per cent of the annual retail trade value, or an existing mortgage of only about 3.3 per cent of the normal national income.

Ability to Pay.

Another prevalent idea that installment selling has increased greatly in recent years is incorrect. As far back as 1923 about 12 per cent of all goods were sold on the time basis, and this proportion, according to Dr. Clyde William Phelps, a competent economist, has risen only to 13 per cent in 1929.

Moreover, the ability to pay debts contracted is greater than the alarmists would have us believe. It is doubtful if more than five in twenty persons who were gainfully employed last year are involuntarily idle now. It is more than doubtful that even two in a hundred are out of work and at the same time holding property on which they owe regular installment payments. With these facts in mind, it can hardly be contended that the installment sales have been instrumental in depressing business or slowing down its recovery.

The proper view of installment selling is that it is a weapon in the hands of certain industries, and one which has been used effectively by them against those which are not suited to its use. The automobile, the radio, and the washing machine, which can be expected to outlast the term of the payments, are adapted to such sales. It would obviously be unwise to sell a freezer of ice cream or a railroad ticket to Yellowstone Park on future payments, as consumption would be complete before the second collection could be made.

Gives Specfic Rule.

A specific rule that should be followed in all isntallment sales is that the goods in the hands of the buyer should always be worth more to him than the payments he still has to make. The automobile finance companies, notably, followed this, and found that their losses on time paper have been small.

One feature of installment business little discussed is the sale of stocks. Some issuing companies undoubtedly had a great deal of trouble last fall when the paper they had sold fell to a market price below what the customers owed. The customers had a great many mental pains about it, and those who decided to keep their contracts suffered acute pain in the pocketbook. However, if they bought on a basis of investment return they are not, in general, hurt a great deal. The great sufferers are those who purchased at a high price in expectation of getting a higher one a year later.

New York, June 25.—The stock market had a rather trying day of it. The bear crowd was very evidently out to put it on the spot again, but the opposing faction was just as dead bent on keeping things on the up and up, so they had it nip and tuck for the full five hours.

Neither side had much to crow about in the final accounting. Most of the pivotals were back above the dividing line, but minus signs preponderated rather heavily in the rest of the list. Railroad shares again

"WHAT STOCKS SHALL I BUY TODAY?"

This question is being asked today by thousands of investors, and the right answer is exceedingly difficult to find.

The prices of high-grade American common stocks have declined substantially during recent weeks. Current quotations seem attractive to many investors.

But what stocks shall be chosen? . . . If you buy one or two—or even a half dozen—different issues, there is so great a risk of making the wrong choice that the careful investor hesitates to act.

The answer to this problem is found in wide diversification. If a sufficiently diversified selection is made, a possible decline in the price of certain shares should be offset by the rise in the price of others. Thus, you gain the benefit of the law of averages, and the value of your investment grows with the growth of the country.

A plan which makes wide diversification among common stocks available to every investor, in convenient form, is provided by Standard American Trust Shares—a fixed trust including twenty-five standard listed common stocks.

The price of these shares is at present about $9 each—which means that the small, as well as the large, investor can take advantage of this opportunity.

We recommend the purchase of these shares for long-term investment. Descriptive circular will be sent to any investor upon request.

WHEAT TRADERS CAUTIOUS; NEW LOW IS REACHED

But Short Covering Brings About Rally.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Professional operators were inclined to go a little slow on the selling side of the wheat market yesterday, pending further developments in the situation. All deliveries dropped to a new low for the crop early, with July selling at 87¾c on scattered selling, but short covering developed and with some buying by commission houses, which was attributed to an effort to help the stock market, brought about a rally of 1⅜@2c from the inside prices.

Final trades showed net gains of ⅛@⅝c, with July 88⅝@88¾c and September 92⅛@92¼c to 92⅝.

The general run of the news was somewhat more two sided than of late, with cables from abroad reporting heavy rain damage in Greece, while in Russia abnormally hot weather was said to be doing damage. At the same time Broomhall estimated Russia would export 48,000,000 bu wheat during the 1930-'31 season and claimed that a good crop was in prospect, although in Siberia the acreage is only about 50 per cent of what was expected. A fairly liberal increase in world's import needs for the next season is expected by Broomhall.

Foreigners Need Wheat.

While stocks of cash wheat abroad are reported as small and the amount on ocean passage is the lightest at this season in a number of years foreigners show little disposition to buy foreign grain in volume, and purchases in North America for the day were estimated at 1,000,000 bu, including some new crop hard winters.

Favorable weather for harvest is resulting in a rapid increase in the movement of new winter wheat in the southwest. Farmers were said to be taking storage tickets in return for their cash grain, according to an Emporia, Kas., message to J. E. Bennett & Co., but the country elevators are shipping it as fast as possible to terminals in order to avoid congestion.

Storage room at Texas points is expected to be filled within 15 days. The seven leading points in the southwest received 950 cars for the day. Threshing returns from the Texas panhandle and Oklahoma generally show yields in excess of expectations.

Scattered showers were reported in the Canadian northwest and good rains in parts of the Dakotas, with the forecast for generally fair. Winnipeg wheat developed independent strength and closed ⅞@1¼c higher, while Liverpool was 1⅛@1⅜d lower, with pressure of winter wheat a factor. Rotterdam July wheat closed at 96¼c, or about 7½c over Chicago, with September at 91⅝c, a discount of ⅝c under Chicago.

New Low on December Corn.

Corn showed a heavy undertone as the result of local and commission house selling on the favorable weather for the new crop in this country, and December sold down to 67⅜c, a new low on the crop, with the nearby months within a fraction of the inside figures of the season. A rally came toward the last, in sympathy with the firmness in wheat and on a better cash demand, with the finish ⅜@⅝c lower, July being 74⅝@74¾c, September 73⅛@73¼c, and December 68¼c. Local shipping sales were 104,000 bu, with the spot basis steady to 1½c higher, No 2 mixed bringing 2½c over July. Rains were reported at several points in Illinois during the day, with heavy precipitation in parts of Iowa.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A Chicago Board of Trade membership sold at $17,000 net to the buyer. On Tuesday three sold at $16,500.

Europe's import requirements of wheat the coming season are estimated by Broomhall at 544,000,000 bu. North America, he says, can supply over 300,000,000 bu, so that Australia, India, and Argentina should have no difficulty in supplying the balance of about 150,000,000 bu for the coming season.

STATE BANKERS OPPOSE FURTHER BRANCH FAVORS

Don't Want Federal System Forced on Illinois.

Peoria, Ill., June 25.—[Special.]—Illinois bankers went on record today opposing the issuance of further branch banking privileges to national banks, except to the extent of giving such banks equal rights with other banks in states where branch banking is permitted.

"We are opposed," the resolution read, "to federal legislation which will force the branch banking system upon this state, and, above all, legislation which would compel, against the laws of Illinois, the admittance of the branch of a bank operating in another state."

Urge Burglary Prevention.

The state association's support was pledged to efforts of law enforcement agencies within the state to eliminate the criminal, who is defined as a menace to the public. Installation of proper burglary prevention methods by all banks was urged.

The convention also urged adoption by congress of a bill to eliminate discrimination against banks in the handling of registered mail.

That overproduction in all merchandise has brought about the general depression which exists "the world over today" was declared by M. A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago in his annual address before the convention.

Traylor Alleges Overproduction.

"There is overproduction in farm products, manufactured products, and most every other commodity," he said, "and it all means labor we cannot use. Commodities will only find markets when the world can use them and the population has not kept pace with the growth in production to an extent great enough to demand them."

The only way to maintain the standards of the last ten years in the United States is to bring the rest of the world nearer the standards of this country, he declared. "We can no longer say we are in the world, but not of the world," he continued.

From the bank of international settlements, which he explained in detail, will come this world-wide feeling of unity, Mr. Traylor believes. He told of the conferences in which the United States committee had taken part with the financial leaders of six other nations in formulating the Young plan and the bank which provides a great unity of thought on business questions which prevailed among them. He said there was no division of opinion in any instances where economic questions were concerned.

MAKE OFFERING OF $20,000,000 IN C. & S. RY. BONDS

A banking syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. and including the First National bank, New York, and the National City company is offering $20,000,000 Colorado and Southern Railway company general mortgage 4½ per cent gold bonds, series A, dated May 1, 1930, and due May 1, 1980, at 95¼ and accrued interest to yield approximately 4.75 per cent.

Proceeds of the issue will be used to reimburse the company in part for the retirement of $19,402,000 of its first mortgage bonds which matured Feb. 1, 1929, and for expenditures in excess of $7,500,000 made prior to May 1, 1930, in construction of the 205 mile line of its wholly owned subsidiary, the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains Railway company.

The Colorado and Southern is controlled through ownership of 68 per cent of common and preferred stock by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and the lines of the system comprise the southern stem of the Burlington system. The Colorado and Southern lines own 1,619 miles of line and have trackage rights over 169 miles of other railroads.

NEW FIRM RENTS LEITER BUILDING FOR TWO YEARS

Y. M. C. A. Buys Holding at 20 West Chicago.

After having had its doors closed for some weeks, the old Leiter building at the southeast corner of State and Van Buren streets once more is to be opened to shoppers. The latest firm to occupy the building—once the Chiacgo home of Siegel, Cooper & Co.—will be the Famous State Stores, Inc., which will operate along the lines of the erstwhile Leiter stores.

The new firm has leased the building, which occupies the block on the east side of State street from Van Buren to Congress, from the L. Z. Leiter estate for two years from July 1 at an undisclosed rental. For the present the first four floors and the basement will be used for merchandising purposes.

The president of Famous State Stores, Inc. is Jacob J. Blumenfeld, former merchandising manager of the Kresge department stores in New York and at one time with the Leiter stores. Arthur Eismueller and S. McAlvany are vice presidents and J. F. Hosty is secretary-treasurer. The store opening is planned for Saturday. Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt were attorneys for the Leiter estate and W. W. Corlett acted for the corporation.

The Young Men's Christian association of Chicago has purchased from Abraham J. Marcus the property at 20 West Chicago avenue. The ground, 25x104 feet, adjoins the Lawson Memorial hotel which the Y. M. C. A. is now erecting at the northeast corner of Dearborn and Chicago. It was purchased for future uses.

J. Meyer Friedman has purchased from the Krause Furniture company the property, 75x133 feet, at 5208-10 West 25th street, Morton Park, for a reported $112,000, subject to $80,000. The one story building on the ground is to be remodeled and the east twenty-eight feet of the structure will be occupied by the F. W. Woolworth company under a thirty year lease. The Krause company will continue to occupy the balance of the structure. Mr. Friedman gave property in Evanston in part payment for the Morton Park building. Cheney, Evans & Peterson were attorneys.

Gustave Raish has purchased from the Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank, trustee, the four stores at the northwest corner of 79th street and Walden parkway, lot 75x138 feet.

BUTTER AND EGGS LOWER

A decline of ¼c, or $30 per car, accompanied greatly increased activity in November egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Spot market was ½c down, but the principal bearish factor seemed to be fear of greater storing in the immediate future. Sales were 136 cars and receipts 11,509 cases.

Butter futures declined ⅛@¼c with an indifferent demand that was apparently actuated by a reaction from recent advances. Sales were 26 cars and receipts 11,465 tubs. Prices follow:

to both companies. Where would they seek the next greatest company which to ally themselves to meet changing conditions but in Bethlehem?"

"When the stockholders' meeting was called on April 8, 1930, and a vote taken," Day charged, "the doors of the meeting place were locked and telephonic communication was destroyed. That is significant and descriptive of the general line of conduct during the whole of the negotiations."

Day contended the merger lost several thousand votes, despite the recording of more than two-thirds majority in favor of the deal. He attacked several classes of stock proxies which he claimed were illegally voted.

"All in all we contend that about 250,000 shares were voted illegally," said the attorney. He added a charge that ballots cast by the protective committee and several individuals for the merger were "blank ballots," thus stating the number of shares represented.

"This would bring the number of votes actually cast on the merger to almost zero," he said.

Haul in Mystery Trunks.

The part played in the negotiations by Henry G. Dalton of Cleveland, partner in Pickands, Mather & Co., and what was in four black "mystery" trunks are expected to be two centers of controversy. Dalton is a director of both Bethlehem and Sheet & Tube, and Pickands-Mather has large contracts with both concerns. The protective merger forces contend, however, that Dalton acted purely in behalf of Bethlehem Sheet and Tube interests.

The trunks were stored by Ralph M. Price, assistant auditor of Sheet and Tube, under an assumed name, but the same day that his company announced figures on the merger were no longer in its possession, according to testimony included in the mass of depositions taken recently in Cleveland, Youngstown, and New York in preparation for the hearing.

Top yesterday, $12.45; average, $11.45.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 5,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs and 8,000 sheep.

The brakes were applied to tobogganing hog prices yesterday and steady gains were obtained during the first half of the day. The general market, however, showed signs of slipping lower again in midsession, and some orders for light and underweights were filled at a saving of 5@10c near the close, the low point of the day.

The general average price moved down 5c more at $8.70, while the extreme top held steady at $9.15, which was paid for several loads of hogs of outstanding quality averaging 190@220 lbs.

Larger houses refused to pass $8.90 for best grades and obtained about 1,000. Better grades of hogs are selling $1.15@1.25 below early last week, while packing sows show losses of $1.50@1.59 in the same length of time.

A decrease of about 6 per cent in the spring pig crop of 1930 from that of 1929 for the United States as a whole is shown by the June pig survey of the department of agriculture, covering about 72,000 farms.

Hog Futures Are Active.

Activity featured trading in hog futures yesterday, particularly when prices weakened 5@10c near the close. Contracts for ten carloads sold, making the three day total 23 loads, which compares with 21 a week ago.

July light opened at $9.35 yesterday, but closed at $9.20. September light sold at $9.15 at the start and at $9.10 later in the day. August mediums brought $9.25. September mediums opened at $9.35, but weakened to $9.30 directly after the start and closed at $9.25.

Cattle sold on an erratic market yesterday. Continued small receipts injected strength in the market for better grades, which ruled strong to unevenly higher, while anything lacking in quality had to be peddled and in many instances were barely steady with the general selling the previous day.

Prime 1,327 lb steers topped the price list at $12.40, while bulk sold at $9.50@11.25, which was slightly above Monday's bulk. Cows and heifers were in better demand at strong to higher prices, about 200 baby beef heifers selling at $10.25@10.75.

Lambs Sharply Lower.

Lambs were sorted losely at 25@50c lower yesterday, plain quality natives showing the sharpest losses. The few choice rangers available held steady at $12.35@12.45. The first Montana range lambs of the season carried only fair quality and sold at $11.75.

Best natives brought $11.50@12.00, with strong weight culls at $7.00@7.50 and inferior thin light as low as $5.00 @6.00. Aged and yearling sheep were scare and unchanged. Feeding lambs sold steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 5,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs, and 8,000 sheep, against 5,539 cattle, 21,243 hogs, and 8,538 sheep on the previous Thursday, and 5,072 cattle, 25,657 hogs, and 6,499 sheep a year ago.

SYNOPSIS.

[illegible] West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam. Catherine [illegible] that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is [illegible] about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter [illegible]ristine Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is [illegible] and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs. He had [illegible] that she was ill.

[illegible]ving at Mme. Bender's apartment, Catherine is treated coldly by the servants. [illegible] Mme. Bender's maid, tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide [illegible] before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine, who is pathetically [illegible] to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

[illegible]ffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and she tells him of her vague fears. [illegible]prised, too.

[illegible] next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, [illegible] she saw a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the [illegible] Blom finds the gallery open for the first time and a number of pictures and [illegible] missing. Jeanne says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine [illegible]ffrey is lying. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender.

[illegible]ffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He [illegible]ecretly put an investigator on the case. He asks her to marry him, but she wants [illegible] to be certain of her feelings. Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontaine-[illegible].

[illegible]ffrey discovers Blom, the mysterious person seen around the Bender apartment, is [illegible] a possible heir to the Bender fortune. Shortly after this discovery Blom's engage-[illegible] to Mme. Baron, Miss Cushing's milliner, a widow, whose maiden name is the [illegible] name of Mme. Bender, is announced.

[illegible] fire breaks out in Mme. Bender's apartment early in the morning and she is [illegible] to death. Most of the building is saved. Catherine had returned suddenly to Paris [illegible] before. The servants deny to Geoffrey that she came to the apartment. Geoffrey [illegible] Ricardo, the butler, to Blom's office. He sends for his investigator to watch the [illegible] calls on the commissariat de police, who assigns Inspector Bazin to the case.

[illegible]erine did return to Mme. Bender's apartment. Before retiring she smells smoke [illegible] it is coming from her cousin's room. The door is locked. She dashes to get the [illegible] and arouse Jeanne, who fights with her to prevent her from opening madam's door. [illegible] the butler, carrying a heavy candlestick—and then a crashing blow on her skull [illegible] of consciousness.

[illegible]ffrey's sister, Elspeth, meets him at the Bender apartment. She looks over Cath-[illegible]'s belongings and finds a hat Catherine wore on her visit at Fontainebleau. Geoffrey [illegible] a telegram signed by Catherine, stating she is well and would telephone him on [illegible] arrive. After the first shock of joy he becomes doubtful about the message. He [illegible] the inspector to watch, from a room across the street, the Bender apartment [illegible].

[illegible] returning consciousness Catherine finds herself in a strange bedroom, bound [illegible].

INSTALLMENT LXXVI.

A SICKENING CERTAINTY.

[illegible]denly Catherine stiffened as a noise reached her ears. Without warning [illegible] was opened stealthily, and muffled footfalls approached. Instantly she [illegible] again, bathed in sweat. Some one had entered the flat, was coming [illegible] and without hesitation towards her hiding place. In the dense darkness [illegible]ught the quick inhalation of a hurried breath close to the bed, and for [illegible]ant thought that her heart would burst.

[illegible] the same moment there was the scratch of a match, followed by a [illegible] glare, and in the light of a candle-end sheltered by a broad palm two [illegible] figures emerged from obscurity. The smaller of them came near on [illegible] bent down and peered into her face.

[illegible] was Jeanne. Behind her rose the shadowy mass of the butler, his blood-[illegible]es gleaming in the candle light. Both servants wore coats and hats, [illegible] woman carried a bundle under her arm. Her hands were bandaged.

[illegible] a second Catherine stared back at her with fascinated eyes. Again she [illegible] to scream, her voice ending in a gurgle.

[illegible]ardo spoke in an undertone:

"She has come to herself, then? That is good. Now be quick about it. [illegible] need any help?"

"No. Better keep watch at the outer door."

"Well, sharp work then. Here's the knife . . ."

They were going to kill her outright! She cowered away with a sudden-[illegible] which sent her toppling.

[illegible] the same time she felt herself rudely grasped and thrown upon her [illegible]. The sallow face leaned over her, the eyes boring into hers.

"You can hear, I suppose? Well, then, listen carefully. You are to obey [illegible] they set foot on the opposite pavement a man in evening dress brushed by them.

[illegible]erything I say—and if you make one sound you will find this between [illegible]ribs!"

[illegible] the word "this" a sharp point pressed into her side. The yellow light [illegible]pon the polished blade of a long carving knife, clutched in murderous [illegible].

[illegible]though the girl could make no sign, her jailer was apparently satisfied. [illegible]withdrew the weapon, bent over the prisoner's feet, and with a quick [illegible] noise severed the strips confining the helpless ankles. Next she [illegible] her into an upright position, slid her to the edge of the bed so that [illegible] touched the floor, and, unrolling the bundle, which proved to be [illegible]ne's tweed coat, produced a package of medical gauze.

[illegible]ft expert fingers began to wrap her face and head in bandages, cover-[illegible] the gag and leaving nothing free save the nose and eyes. Catherine was [illegible] like a cocoon in surgical wrappings, fastened here and there with [illegible] pins. She felt her hat thrust upon her head, pulled well down to hide [illegible]per part of her face. For a second she swayed, the candle was blotted [illegible] and she grazed the borders of unconsciousness.

[illegible] was lifted bodily, an arm steadying her to prevent her falling. When [illegible]dizziness cleared she was aware that her coat had been thrown round [illegible] shoulders, dangling loose over her bound arms.

[illegible] by the smoking flame of the candle, stuck on a chest of drawers, she [illegible] see the maid busy herself rapidly with the disordered bed, smoothing [illegible] the red damask cover and wadding the blood stained towel and linen [illegible] into a ball which she placed in her coat pocket. Hardly had she [illegible] when Eduardo reappeared in the doorway, his distorted shadow rising [illegible] him.

"Ready? She can stand upright?" he whispered.

"With us to help her."

Catherine sensed an ominous pause which at first she did not understand. [illegible] she felt her left hand grasped from underneath her coat and pulled [illegible] as it would go towards the flaring candle, while the woman stooped [illegible]. her breath audible through compressed nostrils. Simultaneously [illegible] moved a step closer.

"Ah, that! It is a good stone, too. A pity to let it go."

Then the listener knew that Jeanne was examining her ruby ring.

[illegible]other pause.

"I suppose I take it off her. He will never know . . ."

"No, but the police will, when they fish her up. It's suicide, remember, [illegible]story. A little thing like that might make all the difference . . ."

[illegible] grudging sigh, charged with baffled cupidity, then her hand was [illegible].

"Now they fished her up! Now with sickening certainty she knew what [illegible] was going to be.

[illegible] with a strong smell of smoldering wick the candle was put out. She felt [illegible] raised on both sides and hurried across a second room, along a tiled [illegible], and thence to a lighted landing where a lift waited. The door was [illegible] behind them.

"Better leave the key in the lock," muttered Jeanne. "The old fool will [illegible] he left it there. Have you got the bags?"

"Here, beside you. Look sharp now—in with her."

Catherine was pushed roughly into the lift while a bag and hat box she recog-[illegible] as her own were jammed alongside of her. Evidently no trace of her [illegible] be left. Her captors followed, the metal doors closed with a click, and [illegible] sank, slowly, past three landings to the ground floor. As it came [illegible] a final ray of hope shot through the speechless girl. It could not be [illegible]. Perhaps the concierge might see her and question her identity. [illegible] be on the alert to try to attract his attention.

[illegible] as if in answer to her unspoken thought, Jeanne bent towards her, [illegible] in her ear, "You have not forgotten what I showed you just now? [illegible]empt to escape and you will feel it! I have it ready in my sleeve."

The following instant she was supported down a flight of shallow steps [illegible] court which had a tiny garden in the center, bordered with hyacinths, [illegible] in the moonlight. No one was in sight, but above, on the first floor, [illegible] were open, and through them issued laughter and the babble [illegible] voices. A party was in progress.

[illegible] she was led forward on tottering feet she glanced desperately towards [illegible]. Now she was abreast of the lighted window, through which she could [illegible] detail of the room within—the stickily bright, machine carved [illegible], the blue cover on the table, the clock upon the wall, and beside [illegible] oleograph of Marechal Foch. She was past it in a second, but not [illegible] her eager eye had taken in the rear view of two seated figures, one [illegible] A little elderly man whose head was encircled by a half-hoop of steel [illegible] ing in head phones pressed tightly against his ears. In that instant [illegible]ished. The concierge, a devotee to the radio, was dead to the outer [illegible] intent upon his evening's enjoyment.

[illegible] they were in the street, crossing the familiar avenue of chestnuts. [illegible] they were in the street, crossing the familiar avenue of chestnuts. [illegible] set foot on the opposite pavement a man in evening dress brushed [illegible] casting a curious glance at Catherine's bandaged face. With all her [illegible] she tried to move in his direction, only to find the grip on her arms [illegible] and to feel a sharp prod in her side. At the same time Jeanne's [illegible] soothingly, but loud enough for the passer to hear:

[illegible]ounge, madame! Only one little step farther. Lean on me."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

[One star means fairly good; two stars, good; three stars, excellent; four stars, extraordinary; no stars—just another movie]. FIVE stars? Well, my conscience said, "This picture ought to get 5 stars"—so I gave it 5 stars.]

Paramount release of the film record of the Byrd antarctic expedition, featuring REAR ADMIRAL RICHARD EVELYN BYRD and his entire party, including dogs. Edited and assembled by Emanuel Cohen from 30 miles of film photographed by Willard Van der Veer and Joseph Rucker.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

The temptation to do "fine writing" always assails the critic who has viewed a screen epic, and he sometimes forgets the glory of the achievement he is to describe in his ambition to paint a word picture that shall cause his [her] readers to say: "Now, I would call that mighty near literature!" Well, this review doesn't aim to be literature or anything like it. It is just a finger pointing you and your children—by ALL means your children!—to the Roosevelt theater; just a voice crying out in a newspaper column for you to go and see a marvelously photographed record of one of the most heroic and thrilling exploits of the age.

"With Byrd at the South Pole" has all the attributes of great fiction—and it isn't fiction. Its handsome hero is a REAL one, and the "supporting characters" are brave and gallant fellows who, with their leader, are seen living dangerously, not that a new movie may be added to the constellations of the screen, but that history shall be made.

The film starts with a prologue in which Commander Byrd sums up the main features of his undertaking. Then begins the Great Adventure! You follow the progress of the ship The City of New York from New York harbor till its arrival at the great ice barrier, where it leaves Byrd and his company to face the unknown. The boat sails for New Zealand, that it may escape the winter freeze and be ready to take the heroes back home again—if, indeed, they are ever to go back. Follows the building of Little America, the small town buried under the snow and ice, from which Commander Byrd, with Bernt Balchen and Harold June, will set forth on the flight when the long antarctic night is over.

The days of waiting are crammed with preparations and engrossing incident which I could tell you about but won't, preferring that this amazing historical document, which is, at the same time, such grand and glorious entertainment, shall give you at first hand all of its wonder, thrill, suspense, and beauty.

The motion picture industry has a lot of things the matter with it. So, probably, has heaven. BUT—YOU have been to the south pole with Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd—and THE MOVIES WERE YOUR TICKET. Laugh that off.

See you soon.

Cardinal Mundelein Will Install New Peoria Bishop Today

Peoria, Ill., June 25.—(AP)—Bishop Joseph H. L. Schlarman, who served as pastor in Belleville, Ill., for more than two decades, will be installed tomorrow as head of the Peoria diocese of the Roman Catholic church.

His eminence, Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, will perform the ceremony after a solemn high mass, coram cardinal, celebrated by the Rev. Louis Silva of Piper City, Ill. The bull of appointment, signed by Andreas Cardinal Freuehwirth, chancellor of the Holy Roman church, will be read by the Rev. Thomas E. Shea, chancellor of the Peoria diocese.

The installation ritual will conclude the ceremonies incident to the elevation of Bishop Schlarman, who was a monsignor during the last few years of his Belleville pastorate. He was consecrated a bishop last week at Belleville by Cardinal Mundelein. Here he succeeds the late Bishop Edward M. Dunne, whose death last October ended a decade as spiritual shepherd of the Peoria diocese. The choice of Bishop Schlarman for the vacancy was announced by Pope Pius XI., April 19.

Churches Failing to Meet Unemployment Crisis, Pastor Says

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Chicago churches are neglecting an opportunity afforded by the unemployment situation as well as sidestepping responsibility that Christian faith implies. This challenge was given yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Johnston Myers, veteran pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, 2320 South Michigan avenue. Dr. Myers celebrates his 35th anniversary as pastor of Immanuel church next Sunday.

Dr. Myers appealed to the churches to win the love and gratitude of masses of people "by meeting the present emergency in a practical way." He asserted that too many religious organizations feel that they do their whole duty when they have taken a vote of sympathy for people who need bread.

"Too many of our councils and conferences on works of charity end with an investigation," he said. "Like the priest and Levite of old in the story of the Good Samaritan, they make a survey and pass by on the other side. It is not difficult to preach sermons and to write articles about the suffering of the poor. It is much more difficult and yet more effective to raise money, purchase food, and see that the people who need it get it."

Dr. Myers challenged the ministers of the city to follow the example of the founder of Christianity, to give food to the hungry or to supervise directly its distribution. He pointed to the fact that because most churches do more talking than doing, thoughtful people are recognizing the fact that both ministers and churches are losing the regard of the people.

Solution to the poverty problem of Chicago could be found if the churches would go to work, Dr. Myers declared. He asserted that if the idle portions of church buildings could be used seven days each week as "helping stations" where food, clothing, and medicine could be obtained by worthy people, long steps would be taken in the right direction.

Dr. Myers deplored as being unChristian any system of collections of money for distribution of food and clothing to needy by impersonal secular agencies. He urged that the needy be allowed to associate the gifts with the actual church building, which would continue to hold their affection and gratitude.

"They must see the minister," said Dr. Myers. "They must see him dealing personally and directly with the sick and the hungry after the example of the one whose religion they preach. The minister must show a personal concern in the needs of people. If a church is too nice to be used as a place where men and women are clothed and fed, then it has really nothing to do with the spirit of Christ."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you agree with Judge Kavanagh that capital punishment will stop murders?

The Answers.

R. W. Swanson, 7356 Phillips avenue, haberdasher.—I certainly do. If justice was meted out as it is in England we would find that major crimes would be almost unheard of. Too much publicity as well as crooked politics has hampered the courts, the police and other organizations from securing the extreme penalty in many crimes.

Miss Dorothy Raaf, 1295 Elm street, Blue Island, Western Union manager.—The judge is right. The fear of a death penalty would stop most of these yellow gangsters from committing murder. I would also suggest that honest and efficient policemen be given orders to shoot to kill whenever these gangsters are caught in the act of taking some one for a ride or robbing. Too much leniency has been shown.

Charles P. Munger, Phoenix, Ariz., sand and gravel dealer.—Capital punishment is all right if the law is uniform throughout the U. S. A., but when gangsters know they can escape in one state or at least get a lighter sentence by committing the crime in that state they just bring their victims there.

Miss Ida Lee Nowell, Cleveland, Miss., student.—I consider Judge Kavanagh a very good authority on that subject and hope he will be able to help Chicago solve its crime problems. With the severest punishment and right kind of juries, and honest and faithful officials that should be an easy matter. The gangsters who at present feel that it is easy to get out of trouble in Chicago should be made to know that Chicago and Cook county are no places to commit crimes.

F. J. Ashley, 1 North La Salle street, public relations.—Judge Kavanagh's 32 years on the bench and his conduct of his court speaks for itself and any advice from him certainly should be followed. Stop jury tampering and get the proper kind of jurists to hear the cases, and when a criminal is convicted give him the maximum sentence.

Ravinia Hears 'Manon'; Gala Spirit Prevails

Bori and Chamlee Lead Way to Applause.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

For the first time this season the performance of "Manon" last night brought out the old spirit of festivity at Ravinia. Good performances have already become the rule, but here developed the electric interchange between stage and auditorium, audience responding to the music and artists responding to audience. Such happenings when they occur make a performance more than merely good.

It may have been in the air, but I prefer to think that it was created by two great artists who led the cast, Lucrezia Bori as Manon and Mario Chamlee as the Chevalier des Grieux. They were both superb in their individual aspects and their team play.

Miss Bori always had the secret of youth and delightfulness in this Massenet piece. Mr. Chamlee brought to it suave, light elegance of manner and some of the finest singing he has ever done hereabouts.

So they were applauded generously at the end of their several musical numbers and called before the curtain at the end of the several acts until one lost count of the number. As usual, they were supported by an excellent cast, but they set the pace of the performance and they came close to being perfection in doing it.

It would almost be a relief if some night a bad performance were given at Ravinia. Then there could be a variety in the tone of the reports emanating from the place. But as it is the duty is strong to advise all who like a good show to go to Ravinia the next time "Manon" is billed to hear the chattering, chuckling, utterly charming music that Massenet wrote for it, but above all to behold Mario Chamlee and Lucrezia Bori.

Paris Elite Discards Gems in Favor of Fox Neckpieces

PARIS, June 25.—(AP)—Parisian society took a few hurdles of its own in the matter of styles at the Auteuil jumping classic today by draping itself in silver fox neck pieces in lieu of the jewels it customarily wears to fashionable sports events. Most of the fashionable women from both sides of the Atlantic appeared without emeralds or diamonds, wearing neck pieces made of two or three pelts.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL IN LONDON RESTORED; KING AT REOPENING

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—Sir Christopher Wren's great St. Paul's cathedral, built in 1697 and rising majestically above the city, the most ancient quarter of London, reopened at noon today with a triumphant thanksgiving service. Part of the vast interior had been cluttered up for 17 years while an army of workmen had been busy strengthening the supports of the cathedral's 68,000 ton dome.

A colorful prelude to the thanksgiving service was furnished by King George and Queen Mary. The rulers drove in an open carriage drawn by four horses through the flag decked streets to the accompaniment of the cheers of the populace lining the long route from Buckingham palace to the cathedral.

As the royal pair arrived at Temple Bar, boundary between the Westminster district and the city of London, the royal carriage halted, according to the ancient tradition, and the lord mayor of London offered King George a great pearl handled sword as a token of the city of London's loyalty.

As the procession neared the cathedral the huge bells began pealing joyously. As soon as the royal family had taken their seats the remainder of the congregation was ushered in. It included the majority of the country's celebrities and nobles clad in morning dress and academic robes.

The cathedral the congregation saw was a vastly different place from the boarded up nave its members had been accustomed to see since the repairs were begun a year before the war.

Due to the illness of the archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of London presided at the service. Bishops from all parts of the world, clad in colorful robes, also were present.

The reconstruction of St. Paul's, which cost $1,250,000, represents a triumph of the builders' art, for the edifice is now stronger than ever, while before the work was started the great mass of stone was in danger of falling to pieces. It was discovered two decades ago that the mammoth 68,000 ton dome, which rests on eight main piers, was decidedly insecure and would crash if it was not strengthened immediately.

At the same time it was learned that the foundations of the piers were also insecure and that they only extended four and one-half feet into the earth, and that a bit deeper there was a 20 foot layer of sand. The piers had settled slowly and were beginning to slope inward like barrel staves, thus putting the immense weight of the dome more and more on the outer edges.

In order to remedy these critical conditions the largest chain ever made was forged for the purpose of binding the outer dome together. The chain contains 30 tons of rustless steel. Each link is 15 feet long and its total length is 450 feet. The ends were pinned together and the chain pulled tight by wedges, and then the whole affair was surrounded with concrete.

Doctors Blame Love and Hate for Many Ills

Discuss Role of Emotions in Fighting Disease.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—[Special.]—Human emotions, especially those linked with the heart, that bring songs from the poets, were dissected today by a dozen physicians attending the 81st annual assembly of the American Medical association.

Dr. William J. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., advanced the theory that the suppression of emotions—love, fear, hunger, and hate—might be the cause of heart disease.

"From the dawn of history," Dr. Mayo said, "the heart has been pictured in prose and poetry in every language, by the orator and the layman, as the seat of human emotions. Let us not be too scornful of an immemorial recognition of the emotion-heart phenomenona, which may have a physical basis. A supreme relationship originating in that shadowy day when hunger, fear, love, and hate ruled and the psychic influence of this relationship has lost none of its magic."

Dr. Mayo said that in a prominent English hospital the death rate among surgeons on the staff was more than three times that among medical practitioners in the same age and period. He thought that the strain of their handiwork was a factor toward death.

"It is noticeable that a common cause of death among surgeons is disease of the heart," he said, "death coming in the latter part of the sixth and early part of the seventh decade of life. In all other respects the surgeon maintains his general health equal to others, and often postmortem examination does not show evidence of other serious disease.

"The tendency to death from heart disease is common among all men who live lives of stress, in which stern control of their emotions is necessary."

Dr. Cornelius C. Wholey of Pittsburgh discussed the same idea.

"Mental factors play such an important part in physical disease as to be a menace to diagnosis and treatment," he said. "The normal functions of the sympathetic nervous system is upset by emotional disturbances, and secretion, blood circulation, digestion and respiration suffer accordingly. If the upset persists too long, it is likely to become organic."

Dr. George A. Moleen of Denver, elaborated on the harm done the digestive tract if emotional and mental shock is severe. He said he believed that many operations could be obviated by careful study from this point of view. Mental relief has some times brought relief from physical symptoms, he said.

Dr. James B. Herrick, Chicago heart specialist, discussed the causes of heart disease. He gave nervous disorders as the cause of one group of heart ailments. In the list of other causes he listed were found rheumatic fever, derangement of the thyroid gland, diabetes, drugs, tea, coffee, tobacco, nephritis, and diseases of the respiratory tract—in many cases more than one.

Reports on human ills ranging from eye strain to tuberculosis were given before other sections of the convention. Parrot fever, known to medical science by the tongue twisting term "psittacosis," had its inning, and the familiar rheumatism was laid down as the most important cause of disability.

The latter, according to Dr. Robert B. Osgood of Boston, is the most widespread of all the chronic diseases, and it has, conversely, been allowed to progress too far without proper attention. The orthopedic surgeon, the specialist in diseases of the bones and joints—most often sees the last stages of this common ailment, when little can be done to give the patient relief, he said.

Retired Teachers Ponder on What to Do with Leisure

Spare time is apparently the greatest problem confronting retired school teachers. The question of what to do with leisure was debated by 75 retired public school teachers yesterday during their bi-annual meeting and luncheon at the Morrison hotel. Music, reading, shows, faithful friends and beautiful memories were among the solutions offered.

Children Selling Lemonade to Aid Tribune Ice Fund

"Ice cold lemonade. Five cents a glass. Step right this way for ice cold lemonade."

The lemonade venders are shouting their wares lustily these days. And into the treasury of more than one group of neighborhood children is pouring pennies for THE TRIBUNE free ice fund. Every year as soon as school is out these youngsters do a little carpenter work, decorate their handiwork with bunting or crêpe paper, and presto! they have a select clientele waiting for "ice cold lemonade."

The first lemonade benefit proceeds of the season arrived yesterday from Mary Ann Erman, Elizabeth Ann Felsenthal, Emily Gertrude Harris, and Natalie Louise Stern. They explained that the proceeds of $1 were from one afternoon's work and "it was lots of fun."

The sixth grade civics club of Stolp school, Wilmette, sent a gift through Nancy E. Durgin for the ice found for $3.25. Another gift for $5 came from a college group, the Phi Sigma Phi sorority of Batavia.

The taste of hot weather in Monday's torrid wave reminded many other TRIBUNE readers that tenement families are suffering these days. It takes money to keep THE TRIBUNE'S free ice wagons visiting those homes, and all friends are urged to send their gifts as early as possible.

These gifts have arirved since the last acknowledgement:

Scientists to Leave Today on Hunt for Relics of Indians

In the hope of recovering Indian relics in time to show them as a part of the Illinois exhibit in the Century of Progress Fair in 1933, a party of fifteen men and women archeologists will leave the University of Chicago this morning for Lewiston, Ill., where nine mounds wait to be excavated.

The mounds are on the estate of Joy Morton, near the juncture of the Illinois and Spoon rivers. Coöperating with the university in the project are the Smithsonian institution of Washington, the Laboratory of Anthropology of Santa Fé, and Rufus Dawes, president of the Fair.

Two Wraps Regulate Frock's Formality

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The smartest women are taking their pick of Parish fashions, and many of them are wearing ensembles that boast of two wraps to a dress. It seems they just can't resist the bolero, and as every one knows the bolero is a little bit inadequate in the matter of protection, so they have a jacket, too, which they can wear over the bolero. The two wraps together aren't the slightest handicap on a hot day, but they do regulate with delicate precision the formality of an ensemble, and this is important when the goal is perfection of taste for every occasion.

The Worth ensemble shown here is one of the fashionable two jacket ensembles that smart women like so much. This one is made of black and white dotted crêpe, with a false blouse of white. I say false because while the blouse looks like an independent entity it isn't at all, being sewed fast to the skirt under the black band at the hipline, and making a one piece dress. This blouse follows the chic curved in silhouette, while the long sleeved bolero hangs straight from the shoulders. Its long sleeves are banded with black just above the wrists. The skirt is flared by square topped godets set in at intervals all around.

Over this simple ensemble Worth places the jacket shown in the small sketch, making it immediately more formal. This jacket is of dotted crêpe and is closely fitted, with a loose bolero at the sides so it is easy to wear. It has a scarf instead of a collar. Mrs. Honoré Palmer is one of Worth's smart clients to choose this ensemble.

HERE IS THE PROMISED LETTER FROM THE MAN WHO HAS SEEN OVER TEN THOUSAND PICTURES

Dear Folks:

I am almost afraid to begin. Little devils of doubt ask me if I can put my feelings on paper. They ask me if I can write a message so honest that it will sing itself into the hearts of men and women.

Take my hand. We've arrived at a private screening room.

Five men are present.

"Start the picture!" yells the Divisional Manager.

"And hurry!" adds the Advertising Man. "I haven't seen my proofs on Monday's ads."

"Anybody hear anything about this one?" asks a Theater Manager.

"Trade papers are gushy about it," said the Divisional Manager.

"We'll see."

Lights dimmed. . . . Lights flashed up. . . . We had seen "THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD."

A hush settled over the room. The Divisional Manager lit a cigar with elaborate care and sat gazing at the glowing point. He, and the others, seemed wrapped in reflection.

I, the Advertising Man, sat thinking about a lot of things that concerned just Mom and Dad and I. . . . I found myself considering the old German proverb that parents can support seven children where seven children can't support their parents. A pink tinge crept over my collar-line when I thought of how much I had taken from home and how little I had given in return. I remembered that Mom and Dad had never been hungry when there had only been one piece of meat left on the platter. When had I written home last? Dim memories came rushing out of the past.

Someone stirred. I snapped out of my reverie.

"Set this picture in the Woods," the Divisional Manager was saying. "And tell 'em about it." He walked out.

"Did you see the Old Man?" whispered the Theater Manager.

"He was crying—the tough old buzzard!"

In writing this letter I've worn my heart on my coat sleeve, but I honestly believe "THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD" is the most human, sincere, and absorbing story of real people ever filmed.

Dublin's Episcopalians Let Women Act as Synodsmen

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, June 24.—The synod of the Protestant Episcopal church diocese in Dublin today passed an order admitting women to act as synodsmen. The synod also appointed a committee to organize a 1932 celebration for the landing of St. Patrick in Ireland. The Roman Catholic church has already arranged to celebrate the event simultaneously with the Eucharistic congress in Dublin in 1932.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Condict Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Sheldon Lee of Evanston, to Gerrit Davis Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Patterson Foster of New York, took place at 8:30 o'clock last evening at the First Presbyterian church in Evanston. A reception was held after the ceremony at the Evanston Country club.

Michigan's Cherry Queen Visits City; Brings Sample Pie

Signe Holmer, 18 year old Michigan cherry queen, arrived at the Municipal airport yesterday with a pilot, a chaperon, a business manager, and several large cherry pies. She presented one of the pies to Rufus C. Dawes, president of the World's fair organization, along with a greeting from Gov. Fred W. Green of Michigan, wishing success to the fair and pledging coöperation of the state of Michigan.

Miss Holmer, daughter of a Swedish Lutheran minister of Manistee, was elected queen of the cherry belt Tuesday night from a field of sixteen contestants. She is en route to Washington to convey greetings to President Hoover and present him with a pie of Michigan cherries. From Washington she will fly to New York where Mayor Walker will receive a pie.

Exercises Train Your Muscles and Beautify the Figure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Heretofore we have been taught that if we pulled up the chest, straightened the backbone and stood squarely on our toes, the abdomen would flatten and the hips seem to be of lesser girth. It's true, too, that the abdomen will flatten under the chest raising circumstance and that the hips will feel slimmer.

But a physical instructor calls attention to the fact that while learning to stand correctly, walk, and sit right, you do contribute to a better silhouette, yet if you want to maintain that correct posture at an easy and graceful level, you should work the other way round. Begin posture correction by first training the abdominal muscles. Strengthen them. Get fat off them. Then they'll hold the abdomen back and flat and the rest of the body will conform to proper line.

Maybe our informant is right—but what's to hinder us from working both ways at once and getting the good posture that much more quickly? Also, when we are getting the posture, we are doing a great deal toward ridding the body of excess weight, or if it is building up, strengthening the abdomen muscles and holding the body erect with chest up and out, it works that way, too.

We're all pretty well aware now that the easy grace of posture which women want is not gained by squaring the shoulders or throwing them back rigidly. That may go in military circles, but women have to war with weapons about which may be said the less militant they are, the better weapons.

Anyway, we can try the abdominal flattening, with exercise, and see for ourselves what it does both toward silhouette and carriage. One of the good old reliables that does not seem to be improved on with modern muscle training inventions is that of rising slowly from a flat-on-the-floor position to a sitting one, keeping the heels as fast to the floor as possible. As you become more proficient you keep on tugging at the abdominal hip and waist muscles by attempting to touch the toes in one lift from the floor position.

Relax between movements, taking in six good deep breaths, exhaling, too. This is restful, and also good for the muscles under training.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

The cross-over vestee of this lovely printed silk crêpe frock adds distinction to the simplicity of line, and the feminine influence is plainly seen in the shoulder bow and the bow-tied sleeves. The dress is straight and slender to just over the knees, where the circular flounce starts to widen into flattering fullness at the hem. Flat silk crêpe, crêpe de chine, crêpe Elizabeth—in fact, any of the silk crêpes will make up beautifully.

The pattern, 2550, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Romance Thrives on a Little Privacy Now Just as in the Past

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Give them a little privacy, Mom and Dad. You had it when you were young—or you wanted it just as much.

Instead of joining the chorus of shocked elders at the public conveyance and park bench petting industry, ask yourself if you are giving your youngsters a chance at their young romancing anywhere else. You can't stifle the old impulse to be alone with one's best beau or best girl, nor should you want to. You wouldn't be as luckily placed as you are today if you hadn't been able to sneak in a few quiet moments with what was once your beau and now still is, after twenty or so years of marriage.

The young ones now face a problem that wasn't yours. It is not of their making, either. The small apartment, crowded with family, is what is referred to. Or, let Henry, one of the youth affected, put it his way: "I am a young man who has to admit that I never yet visited a girl at her home where I did not have to entertain or be entertained by the whole family for the entire evening.

"I do not want to appear as if I wished to monopolize the girl, but a little privacy now and then certainly would be in place and duly appreciated. It has been my good luck to have thoroughly nice girls to go out with. We've talked this matter over, as young folk will, and the girls, too, agree that it is impossible to have this thing called privacy anywhere. The parks and busses don't answer for this kind of girl. And Lord knows it isn't that we want to do anything we shouldn't.

"But you know how it is—we want to talk and fool and kid each other and with onlookers you must admit our style is cramped and we have to sit and talk so formally we never get near each other like two people do when they are alone exchanging confidences and ambitions and tastes and everything. I wonder sometimes if romance isn't one of those things that belong to the past."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"Can you get through your column a fairly presentable suit for my son? Although he is only 14 years of age he is extremely large and takes a short stout man's size and his belt measure is 39. He is graduating from school this week and I cannot buy a suit for him. MRS. L. D."

The writer of this letter is a most deserving widow who works and struggles under the greatest difficulties to rear and educate her two sons. I do hope some one will have clothing for the eldest of the boys for I know how badly he needs it and how disappointed he will be without a new suit for his graduation.

Kewpie at the Beach.

I was at the beach with a recently made acquaintance. We were watching the bathers and commenting upon them. Presently my attention was attracted to a middle aged man in a bright red bathing suit, whose thin legs and protruding abdomen made him look like a freak.

"Look at the kewpie in the red suit," I exclaimed. "I'd keep off the beach if I looked like that!"

Following my gaze my friend made a trumpet of her hands and called out, "Yoo-hoo, daddy! Come over and meet Mrs. A." My embarrassment was overwhelming. It was her husband! W. A. J.

Food Talk

Raspberries lead in rare flavor, aroma, and exquisite color, but there are few fruits that are more expensive, and their cost makes them prohibitive to many. With careful planning of meals to include other foods that are less expensive, however, one can manage an occasional raspberry indulgence.

Of course, the most extravagant way of using raspberries is in the fresh state, as a breakfast fruit or a simple dessert. They go much farther in muffins, pie, cake, shortcake, and frozen desserts.

Four varieties—red, black, yellow, and white—are produced. The red and black are most abundant and are highest in table quality. Red berries are usually chosen, when they are to be eaten raw, because they have fewer and smaller seeds. The black berries develop a superior flavor when cooked and are preferred in sauces, pies, jams, and jellies.

The more excellent flavor of the black is no doubt due to its composition. It is interesting how nature has made berries of the same family so different. The black variety contains fat, while the red has none. The black also contains much more protein than the red.

Sally Will Select Her 100 Guests for First Party Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Today is the great day, my young friends, on which your letters will be read and the winners in the White City race decided! After glancing through the huge stacks of mail from boys and girls in and around Chicago, I have come to the conclusion that it's going to be no easy task to make the selections. Each letter is so good and each writer is apparently so enthusiastic about this party that it will be extremely hard to tell which hundred are the most anxious to be my guests next Thursday. Sunday morning's TRIBUNE will give the results, so be sure to watch for your name.

And what a day it will be for the winners! In addition to the thrilling and exciting high rides there are going to be special features planned expressly for us. One of them is the big fireworks display which is usually held only in the evening, but on next Thursday, our day at the south side park, we will see them in daylight.

Probably one of the most thrilling adventures in store for us will be the ride on the giant coaster. And one of the best times will be had in the Fun House, where there are rolling barrels, wabbly walks, merry-go-rounds, whirling saucers, treadmills and any number of things that will keep you in hysterics all the while you are there.

The Lindy Loop is White City's newest ride, and from what I hear about it I'll wager it's going to be one of the most popular. It goes 'round and 'round and rocks and rocks until you have to hang on for dear life.

But you'll see and hear and experience all these things yourself when we have our first party of the season next Thursday. Don't forget to watch for Sunday's TRIBUNE, where your name will appear if you are numbered among the lucky ones.

fountains OF refreshment ARE JUST AROUND THE CORNER

You get energy in a most refreshing form at your soda fountain

OF ALL American institutions, none is more popular than the soda fountain. The sprightly cold drinks, the stimulating hot beverages, the ices, parfaits, sundaes and candies served there, not only bring refreshment, but their sugar content supplies the system with quick energy and nourishment without taxing the digestive system.

A famous athletic trainer always permits his men to eat all the ice cream they want. A well-known physician in Philadelphia often advises business men who are his patients to drop in at a soda fountain in the late afternoon and drink a flavored milk shake. Fatigue and nervousness are overcome and dinner is eaten later with calm enjoyment.

Such indorsement of sugar should not be overlooked. Too often home diets are lacking in this important food. The use of sugar may help in overcoming loss of appetite and in promoting indirectly a more balanced and varied diet.

For example, try a dash of sugar in cooking vegetables. It will heighten their flavor and cause them to be eaten with more relish. A dash of sugar also improves the taste of meats. The sugar blending with the salt and meat juices creates a flavor that can't be described. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.
